RURAL ELECTRIFICATION STUDY

CONSULTANTS ARE INVITED to prequalify for a Rural Electrification Study which is financed by BADEA, whose usual restrictions on eligibility apply.

THE STUDY

The Botswana Government considers rural electrification to be one of the key inputs to the development of rural areas. Consequently the Government plans to implement a study which will develop a criteria for prioritization and selection of rural electrification projects.

The proposed feasibility study will assess the technical, socio-economic and financial viability of providing mains electricity to all areas in Botswana not supplied from the main grid. The Study will include;

- (a) The description of the villages covering the infrastructure, nearest power supply, district development plans for the next 5—10 years, water supply, etc.
- (b) Base—line survey to establish energy requirements which will be used for projecting demand for the next 15 years.
- (c) In areas where diesel power is used, assess the technical, socio-economic, and financial benefits of mains power over 15 years.
- (d) Based on (a, b, c) prepare investment cost and operations cost, etc.

A preliminary design of the rural electrification supply systems will also be the expected outcome of the feasibility study.

APPLICATIONS

Applications from interested and qualified Consultants are invited to prequalify. Application should be received not later than 1500 hours (3 p.m.) Botswana time on Wednesday 14th November, 1990, and should be addressed to:—
