5. Title.—PROGRAMME SPECIALIST (Technical Education).

Post No.—ED-938.

Category and level.—Professional category (P-5).

Organizational location.—Educational Financing Division, Education Sector.

Duties and responsibilities

The incumbent will belong to the Division assigned to carry out the Co-operative Programme between Unesco and the World Bank. This programme was established in 1964 by formal agreement between the two institutions. Its main purpose is to promote the financing of education projects in developing countries that are members of both institutions. Specifically, Unesco and the Bank co-operate in the following fields—

- (a) assisting countries of common membership in the process of sector studies, identification and preparation of education projects;
- (b) appraisal of such projects;
- (c) supervision of implementation of projects;
- (d) final evaluation (project audit).

In the execution of this programme, the incumbent will participate primarily in the various missions required for the work indicated in (a) and occasionally in (b), (c) and (d).

The work to be done varies with the type of mission. The most frequent and important tasks are sector studies, identification and preparation. Sector studies and project identification missions serve the same basic purpose of identifying priority areas and project items for external financing but with different degrees of detail and depth of study.

A sector study is the fullest of studies and should pay particular attention to long-term perspectives for educational development and pre-investment studies of particular aspects of types and/or levels of education to pave the way for further external financing. A project identification mission concentrates more on an analysis of the government's proposals for educational development, with a view to making recommendations for alternative approaches, if necessary, and indentifying project items suitable for external financing. Both sector studies and project identification require a period of inquiry in the country and analysis at Headquarters to prepare a report.

Mission members study a government's development plan, its educational policies and long-term objectives, analyse trends in enrolments, unit costs, graduation, possibilities of employment or further education. Based on these studies they make recommendations on alternative policies or immediate measures for improvement of the education and training system and propose projects suitable for educational reform and development.

Project preparation as the next stage involves detailed study and description of each project item in terms of location and enrolment, curriculum, teacher supply, schedule of accommodation and as reliable a cost estimate as possible of both capital and recurrent costs of the project. The document is written in the country and will constitute its formal request for a loan or credit.

Members of the Division are expected to travel at least four months a year and work as a team consisting usually of four to five specialists. They may also be required to participate in Bank appraisal or economic survey missions involving studies similar to the above though with greater emphasis on economic and financial aspects. They may also be required to participate in supervision missions or in a final project audit.

While under the supervision of the Director of the Division, the incumbent is responsible for the professional content of his work. Questions arising during project preparation are settled in collaboration with team members on the spot. They decide as a team on projects identified, subject to revision after a discussion with their colleagues in the Division and other interested sectors in the Secretariat. He may with sufficient experience, be called upon to act as mission leader.

Sector survey work generally requires two to three weeks mission in the country, while project preparation work may be completed during a single mission of four to five weeks, but may also be spread out over a longer period of time with more frequent but shorter missions.

Within the framework of the above general duties, the technical educator has the following specific tasks—

- (a) to review and propose improvements in the various technical and vocational education facilities whatever the controlling authority or organization in a given country;
- (b) to propose projects suitable for external financing and to plan in detail the implementation of such projects paying particular attention to cost estimates for equipment and proper phasing of the various inputs;

VACANCIES—(Contd.)

- (c) to review non-formal technical education and vocational training aspects and suggest ways and means of improving or expanding them without or with external assistance. The multiplicity and variety of short-term courses for specific trades or occupations, arrangements for training in industry and of co-ordinating bodies, require particular study of administrative and statutory regulations and comparison with their actual functioning;
- (d) to justify proposed expansions or new construction, establish schedules of accommodation and forecast teacher requirements.

Qualifications and experience required

- (a) candidates should have maturity, breadth and variety of educational experience over a period of some years, having passed through successively more difficult and responsible assignments in education or training systems. Relevant experience in high-level planning offices would be an asset. Experience in developing countries is essential;
- (b) candidates should have an advanced degree in engineering education or equivalent experience in vocational training. They should have experience of curriculum design in particular with regard to the relation of technical and vocational to general education;
- (c) candidates should have knowledge and experience of technical education and vocational training systems of various countries. Practical experience in industry would be an asset;
- (d) ability to negotiate and to work co-operatively with different cultural groups. Ability for team work is essential;
- (e) candidates should be fluent in English, French or Spanish and have a good working knowledge, including ability to draft, in at least one of the other two languages.

Salary and allowances

Initial appointment will be at P-5 grade with a net salary equivalent to US$26,299 ($24,298 if without dependants) per annum, payable mainly in French francs, plus the prescribed annual allowances, e.g. post adjustment, at present $32,260 for staff members with dependants, $29,807 for staff members without dependants, family allowances of $450 for each dependent child (if there is no dependent spouse, this indemnity is not payable in respect of the first dependent child). These emoluments are normally exempt from all direct taxation. Income tax on such remuneration, if levied, is reimbursed in accordance with Staff Regulations and Rules.
