GAZETTE NOTICE No. 1802

THE INDUSTRIAL COURT
CAUSE No. 80 OF 1983

Parties:

Jos Hansen & Soehne (E.A.) Ltd.
and

Kenya Union of Commercial Food and Allied Workers

Issue in dispute:

Redundancy.

Jos Hansen & Soehne (E.A.) Ltd. shall hereinafter be referred to as the claimants and the Kenya Union of Commercial Food and Allied Workers shall hereinafter be referred to as the respondents.

2. The parties were heard in Nairobi on 22nd and 23rd November, 1983, and 8th March, 1984, and relied on their written and verbal submissions.

AWARD

3. The Notification of Dispute Form "A" dated 27th May, 1983, duly signed by the parties was received by the court on 13th September, together with the statutory certificate signed by the Labour Commissioner.

The claimants started their operations in Kenya in July, 1953, with a workforce of twelve. Now they have two branches in addition to Nairobi, at Mombasa and Eldoret, and have ninety-two people working for them. During all these years they have not declared any employees redundant and this is the first application since they started operating in Kenya to declare nineteen of their workers redundant. This was the figure with which they started the redundancy exercise but during the hearing they informed the court that now they wanted to declare redundant only fifteen employees. It appears that four workers left the employment for one reason or the other. The point is that these four are no longer in the claimants' employment.

The main reasons why the claimants want to take this most unpleasant and extreme step are because of the imposition of the customs duty on the components of the pumps which they used to import and assemble here but had now decided to discontinue this practice and import complete pumps as they are cheaper that way. Further the claimants had suffered due to the restricted number of import licences granted to them. They gave details of how their business had deteriorated because of the reduction in the value of their approved import licences.

The claimants are engaged in three main activities namely office machines, water pumps and accessories and pharmaceutical products and stated that they needed at least imports valuing 37 million shillings per year to remain in business with the same number of employees. They pleaded that they had not declared dividend for the shareholders for the last three years and their losses exceeded over one million shillings. They pointed out that the government owed them a lot of money which was coming in extremely slowly if at all and as a matter of fact three quarters of their overdraft was pegged against government debt of about 1.2 million shillings.

The respondents have naturally very strongly resisted this application and emphasized that the economy was now improving and that the import licences worth 17 million shillings had been approved for the claimants. They also relied on the analysis prepared by the Division of Manpower Planning and Development which they claimed indicated that there was no need for any redundancy in the claimants' undertaking. The respondents were particularly opposed to the post of technical manager who they claimed was not really needed. They also stressed that the 1983 accounts had not been tabled by the claimants.

The court has carefully considered the parties' submissions and the D.M.P.D. report and it has also noted that the claimants dubbed the D.M.P.D. report as being biased against them.

The original nineteen employees who were to be declared redundant were made up as follows:

"Department"	Total staff	Staff to be laid off
Technical sales	6	2
Workshop	16	5
Olympia sales	4	1
Workshop	20	2
Pharmaceutical	13	1
Administration/finance	23	5
Mombasa office	8	2
Eldoret office	2	1
Total	92	19

The court finds that the claimants have made out a case for some redundancies but certainly not to the extent of fifteen as they wanted. The main area where they have convinced the court that some redundancy is necessary is the one concerning the assembly of the pumps which they used to do previously but have now discontinued because of the heavy customs duty. In the other sections only a couple of other employees need to be declared redundant.

The court must emphasize that it is extremely particular about matters of redundancy but then there are situations where this most unpleasant exercise has to be undertaken in the wider interest of the undertaking which otherwise would collapse and lead to the loss of the employment of the whole workforce.

The court awards that the claimants declare only six employees redundant as stated below and not fifteen for which they had made the application:

Technical sales department:	Date of employment
One sales representative	1-6-76
Technical workshop:
Mason	1-1-77
Painter	1-1-75
Welder	1-8-78
Storekeeper	1-4-81
Eldoret:
Clerk/messenger	1-11-82

The court directs that the claimants may declare the aforesaid six employees redundant and this exercise should commence from the first of the month following the court award. Each one of these employees should be paid their benefits strictly in compliance with the parties' collective agreement.

Finally the court orders that as and when the need arises for the claimants to take on new employees due to improved economic conditions then these six employees should be given first preference in their respective jobs provided they are still unemployed at the time.

Given in Nairobi the 7th May, 1984.

SAEED R. COOKAR,
Judge.
