THE INDUSTRIAL COURT
CAUSE No. 29 OF 1985

Parties:

Railways and Harbours Union (K)
and
Kenya Railways Corporation

Issue in dispute:

Refusal and/or failure by the Railways management to pay subsistence allowance to Alfonse Andeto for the period he served on relieving duties at Thika station, in accordance with staff regulation E. 4 (e) and staff circular No. 119 of 1971.

THE Railways and Harbours Union (K) shall hereinafter be referred to as the claimants and Kenya Railways Corporation shall hereinafter be referred to as the respondents.

2. The parties were heard in Nairobi, on 19th September, 1985, and 2nd October, 1985, and relied on their written and verbal submissions.

AWARD

3. The Notification of Dispute Form "A" dated 6th November, 1984, duly signed by the parties was received by the court on 1st March, 1985, together with the statutory certificate signed by the Labour Commissioner.

Alfonse Andeto was employed as a Junior Clerk by the respondents in 1957. He earned promotions over the years and finally rose to clerk grade RB 11 in 1981, the grade he holds to date. In March, 1971, he was transferred to District Traffic Superintendent's office Nairobi, as a district relief clerk. He carried out relief duties in various stations for periods ranging from two weeks up to about one year in one station and all the time he was paid subsistence allowance. In January, 1977, Mr. Andeto was sent to Thika station as a relief clerk as usual. He was paid subsistence allowance up to August, 1977, when the respondents imposed a temporary transfer on him and stopped paying him subsistence allowance. Mr. Andeto was unhappy with the respondents decision. He appealed against it but the respondents refused to pay him subsistence allowance on grounds that he was on a temporary transfer. He remained temporarily transferred to Thika without being paid subsistence allowance for five years. In 1978 Mr. Andeto reported the matter to the claimants who took it up with the respondents. The respondents still refused to pay subsistence allowance maintaining that Mr. Andeto was on a temporary transfer. The claimants reported a trade dispute and now the matter is before the court.

The claimants told the court that their member's claim was in line with staff regulation E. 4 (e) which reads:

"Travelling allowance (i.e. subsistence allowance at the rate prescribed will ordinarily be paid for not more than 21 consecutive nights spent at the same place. A head of department may, however, extend this period when an employee is away from headquarters as is necessary in the interest of the administration (corporation) and which cannot reasonably be regarded as a temporary transfer. Travelling allowance (subsistence allowance) whether at full or reduced rate, may not be paid for a period in excess of three continuous months without the general manager's (managing director's) agreement".

And also produced staff circular No. 119 of 1971 which outlines qualifications for subsistence allowance for employees who are required to be outside their stations for duty.

During their lengthy submissions, the claimants produced documentary evidence to prove that their member's claim for payment of subsistence allowance for over three months as required by staff regulations was approved and that the respondents decision to impose a temporary transfer on him was an afterthought aimed to deny their member his rightful subsistence allowance.

The claimants told the court that temporary was not defined anywhere in the staff regulations and no period specified for it. They claimed that temporary transfer is a cover-up by the respondents to deny employees subsistence allowance. The claimants held that this temporary transfer inconvenienced their member for five years as he had to run a home at Nairobi where his children were schooling and another home at Thika. They claimed a sum of KSh. 88,560 from the respondents on behalf of Mr. Andeto.

The respondents submitted that this case arose during the break-up of the East African Community. Mr. Andeto was sent to Thika to replace a Uganda National who had to return to his home country but due to uncertainties prevailing at the time, the respondents were not able to gauge the extent of anticipated influx of the returning Kenyans. The respondents told the court that when it became clear that Mr. Andeto's stay at Thika was likely to be prolonged for an unspecified period, it was decided to impose a temporary transfer on him in order to conserve expenditure on subsistence allowance, which could not be allowed to continue indefinitely. The respondents argued that the claimants interpretation of staff regulation E. 4 (e) was not in line with the practice as this regulation allows for a temporary transfer, which is the prerogative of the respondents to transfer their employees.

Turning to Mr. Andeto's case specifically, the respondents told the court that Mr. Andeto turned down an offer to take his family to Thika when he was required to advise the district traffic superintendent of his transport requirements. The respondents stated further that the post Mr. Andeto was occupying at Thika was of a higher grade and he was compensated for assuming higher responsibilities by payment of acting allowance. He further benefited when he was eventually promoted to that higher grade of RB 11 in 1981.

The court has carefully analysed the submissions put forward by both parties and notes that the main argument in this dispute hinges on the words "temporary transfer". The court has been told that temporary transfer is provided for in the staff regulations but there is no mention anywhere of how long a person can be on a temporary transfer. According to the respondents a temporary transfer is considered where they, the respondents, are not certain of the period their employee would stay at a station where he is so transferred, while the claimants understanding is that temporary transfer should be for a limited period and should not be misused to deny the employees their subsistence allowance where due.

The court finds the present arrangement on transfers, be they permanent or temporary, to be rather unsatisfactory in the respondents' undertaking as a person can go on a permanent transfer even for a year or two years whereas in the present case the respondents designated Mr. Andeto's stay at Thika for nearly five years as a temporary transfer. This is most regrettable because during this time the respondents lost the use of a railway house in Nairobi as Mr. Andeto left his family and children in it while another house was made available to him alone at Thika. There is obviously a vacuum on this point in the staff regulations and the court would like to advise both parties to discuss this issue during one of their J.J.C. meetings and come to a sensible solution while not denying the respondents' prerogative of deploying their staff in the best interest of the undertaking.

In the present dispute the court finds that it was totally unreasonable for the respondents to keep Mr. Andeto on temporary transfer at Thika for over five years. This they admitted was to save on the payment of subsistence allowance to him but the court notes that in the past he was paid subsistence allowance for 319 days when he acted as a relief clerk at another station.

The court has carefully considered all aspects of this dispute and finds that Mr. Andeto is entitled to some subsistence allowance because it is obvious that by maintaining two homes, one at Nairobi and another one at Thika, he had incurred additional expenditure. The court assesses such amount to be KSh. 40,000 and the court accordingly awards that the respondents should pay Mr. Andeto KSh. 40,000 in respect of his claim for subsistence allowance and not KSh. 88,560.

THE INDUSTRIAL COURT

CAUSE No. 92 OF 1984

Parties:

Kenya Union of Commercial Food and Allied Workers
and
Umoja Beverages Limited

Issue in dispute:

Dismissal of Fredrick Wanyoike.

THE Kenya Union of Commercial, Food and Allied Workers shall hereinafter be referred to as the claimants and Umoja Beverages Ltd. shall hereinafter be referred to as the respondents.

2. The parties were heard in Nairobi, on 16th October, 1985, and relied on their written and verbal submissions. The claimants called Fredrick Wanyoike as a witness.

AWARD

3. The Notification of Dispute Form "A" dated 8th June, 1984, duly signed by the parties was received by the court on 26th September, 1984, together with the statutory certificates signed by the Minister for Labour and the Labour Commissioner.

F. Wanyoike was employed by the respondents as a driver on 1st July, 1982, at a starting salary of KSh. 1,500 per month and later dismissed for attempting to steal 300 litres of Umoja Beverages brew which had been given to him to distribute in the bars.

The circumstances leading to his dismissal are that on 27th April, 1983, Fredrick Wanyoike was supposed to deliver 3,360 litres of brew to several bars as per schedule which had been prepared by the Area Manager, Justus Karabu. After each delivery Mr. Wanyoike was supposed to collect delivery notes numbered from 99639 one from each of the named bars except Thathini bar which had two Nos. 99642 and 99643. Again these delivery notes were prepared by the area manager. It is noted that for each delivery made the person receiving the brew was supposed to sign each delivery note at the space marked "Goods Received By". At the end of the day, Fredrick Wanyoike was supposed to have handed over to the checking clerk all the delivery notes signed against the "Goods Received" space by the recipients.

The claimants stated that Mr. Wanyoike had been a devoted servant of the respondents with a clean record till 29th April, 1983, when he was dismissed on the grounds that he was attempting to get an extra 300 litres of Nyuki brew under the pretext that three hundred litres had not been delivered to the three bars in question.

On the material date Mr. Wanyoike reported on duty and carried out his duties in the normal way. He visited Njeta Bar and ended his duties at Korokocho bar. He returned to the brewery and made a summary of his day's total delivery sales which showed no discrepancy. He then made a final summary and handed it over to Komo whose duties included counter checking, analysing the total daily sales and also verifying the records as required by the company.

The claimants went on to say that Wanyoike was surprised to be told on 29th April, 1985, that he had been dismissed for attempting to steal the brew and despite the claimants efforts to have him reinstated the respondents became adamant and the matter had to be referred to the court in accordance with the Trade Disputes Act.

The claimants therefore wished to point out that Fredrick Wanyoike was dismissed on unfounded allegations which did not warrant instant dismissal. Mr. Wanyoike having worked devotedly and satisfied the company by his previous performance as he had no written warnings against him before he was sacked should be compensated for the loss of his job and paid 12 months wages by way of compensation.

The respondents stated that the circumstances which led to the dismissal of Fredrick Wanyoike were that on 27th April, 1983, Mr. Wanyoike was supposed to deliver 3,360 litres of brew to several bars as per schedule which was prepared by his supervisor.

On the material day Mr. Wanyoike took a stock of 3,050 litres in his tanker as per despatch note No. 11350. At the end of the day, Mr. Wanyoike returned nil stock as per return No. 8030. In his report at the end of the day, Mr. Wanyoike reported to the checking clerk, Francis Karugu Muita that he only delivered 3,060 litres and not 3,360 litres as were ordered. In order to corroborate his verbal report he also presented to the said checking clerk a daily visit report showing that he delivered 3,060 litres of Nyuki brew and 100 litres against each of the following bars, remained to be delivered:

	Litres balance
Quarry Road	100
Highridge Night Club	100
Thathini Bar	100
Total	300 litres

Thus the total balance underdelivered was 300 litres of Nyuki. Mr. Muita then prepared the summary for route III and showed that Fredrick Wanyoike delivered 3,060 litres as per sales summary sheet. On the morning of 28th April, 1983, the Area Manager, Justus Karabu, saw the report of the short deliveries marked on Fredrick Wanyoike's delivery report. He refuted these and reported the matter to the general manager. The general manager then investigated the matter and his investigation revealed that none of the bars that Mr. Fredrick Wanyoike had visited on 27th April, 1983, claimed to have received less product than they had ordered. The staff that is responsible for receiving the product in those bars had signed their respective delivery notes to indicate that they had received the correct allocation of the product. It therefore appeared that Mr. Wanyoike had a plan to defraud the company of some money through false accounting when he reported that he did not deliver 100 litres to each of the bars namely Quarry Road, Highridge Night Club and Thathini Bar. The respondents therefore concluded that Mr. Wanyoike intended to steal or defraud the respondent of 300 litres of brew which he claimed not to have delivered to the said bars. His manoeuvre was detected before the crime had been committed. The respondents had therefore no choice but to dismiss Mr. Wanyoike, who had proved himself a fraudulent and unfaithful employee. Finally, the respondents commented on the report by an investigator appointed by the Ministry of Labour to look into the matter and stated that the investigator either by will or design, unfortunately mixed up the whole issue and should not mislead the court in their arriving at a fair decision as it is evident that the investigator based his findings on matters other than those set out before him and therefore made a wrong recommendation as a result of which the respondents rejected it as the dismissal of Fredrick Wanyoike was justified. The respondents therefore requested the court to uphold the respondents' action.

The court finds it rather puzzling that according to official records Mr. Wanyoike left the respondents' depot with 3,060 litres of Nyuki brew but according to the delivery notes signed by the various bars the total amount received by all of them was 3,360 litres. Even if Mr. Wanyoike left the depot with 3,060 litres, from where did he get the other 300 litres? So there was obviously a mistake somewhere when he left the depot. Mr. Wanyoike when he compiled his day's report acted on the premise that he had received 3,060 litres and since the delivery notes showed that he should have delivered 3,360 litres he thought 300 litres had been short delivered. The respondents could not explain the discrepancy in their official records between 3,060 and 3,360. The court cannot rule out that the three bars in question probably did not check their deliveries properly and they may well have received 300 litres short although they did not complain. The court finds this to be a borderline case and feels that summary dismissal was not justified as the respondents took no action against the clerk who gave Mr. Wanyoike 3,060 litres for delivery that morning. The court awards that his summary dismissal should be reduced to normal termination and he should also get one month's additional pay as compensation for the wrongful dismissal he suffered.

GAZETTE NOTICE No. 4947

THE TRADE MARKS ACT

(Cap. 506)

NOTICE is given that any person who has grounds of opposition to the registration of any of the trade marks advertised herein according to the classes may, within 60 days from the date of this gazette, lodge notice of opposition on Form TM. No. 6 (in duplicate) together with a fee of Sh. 50.

Notice is also given that official objection will be taken under rule 21 (3) to all applications in which the specification claims all the goods included in any class unless the registrar is satisfied that the claim is justified by the use of the mark which the applicant has made, or intends to make if and when it is registered. Where an applicant considers that a claim in respect of all the goods included in a class can be justified it will save unnecessary delay in examining applications if a claim is filed simultaneously with the application, accompanied in appropriate cases by supporting documents.

The period for lodging notice of opposition may be extended by the registrar as he thinks fit and upon such terms as he may direct. Any request for such extension should be made to the registrar so as to reach him before the expiry of the period allowed.

Formal opposition should not be lodged until after reasonable notice has been given by letter to the applicant for registration so as to afford him any opportunity of withdrawing his application before the expense of preparing the notice of opposition is incurred. Failure to give such notice will be taken into account in considering any application by an opponent for an order for costs if the opposition is uncontested by the applicant.

Where it is stated in the advertisement of the applicant that the mark, upon its registration is to be limited to certain colours, the colours are, as far as possible, indicated in the accompanying representations of the mark in the usual heraldic manner.

Representations of the marks advertised herein can be seen at the Trade Marks Registry, State Law Office, Nairobi.

Applications for registration in part A of the register are shown with the official number unaccompanied by any letter. Application for part B are distinguished by the letter B prefixed to the official number.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO SUBSCRIBERS TO THE KENYA GAZETTE

THE following notes are for the guidance of persons submitting "copy" for inclusion in the Kenya Gazette, Supplements, etc.:

- (1) The Kenya Gazette contains notices of a general nature which do not affect legislation. They are therefore submitted to the Government Printer directly.
- (2) Legislative Supplement contains Rules and Regulations which are issued by the Central Government. Because of this they must be submitted to the Government Printer through the office of the Attorney-General.
- (3) Bill Supplement contains Bills which are for introduction in the National Assembly.
- (4) Act Supplement contains Acts passed by the National Assembly.

All "copy" submitted for publication should be prepared on one side of an A4 sheet no matter how small the notice or Act, each page being numbered, and should be typewritten with double spacing. Copy should be clear, legible and contain a minimum of alterations.

Particular attention should be paid to the following points:

- (i) Signatures must be clarified by means of rubber-stamping or typing the name of the signer in capital letters.
- (ii) Dates must be correct and filled in where necessary.
- (iii) Care should be taken to ensure that all headings to notices and references to legislation are up to date and conform with the Revised Edition of the Laws of Kenya.
