GAZETTE NOTICE NO. 4683

THE INDUSTRIAL COURT
 CAUSE NO. 116 OF 1990

Parties:

Kenya Union of Domestic, Hotels, Educational Institutions, Hospitals and Allied Workers and Oakwood Hotel

Issue in dispute:

Dismissal of Harrison M. Kamuti and Irene Njuguna (Ms.).

THE Kenya Union of Domestic, Hotels, Educational Institutions, Hospitals and Allied Workers shall hereinafter be referred to as the claimants and Oakwood Hotel shall hereinafter be referred to as the respondents.

2. The parties were heard in Nairobi on 20th and 21st March, 18th April and 28th May, 1991, and relied on their written and verbal submissions. In addition, they called the following witnesses to give evidence on their behalf:

Claimants.—1. Mr. Harrison Mutua Kamuti.
 2. Ms. Irene Wariera Njuguna.

Respondents.—Mr. Paramjeet Singh Mahajan ("Tinu").

AWARD

3. The Notification of Dispute Form "A" dated 8th August, 1990, and duly signed by the parties was received by the court on 22nd October, 1990, together with the statutory certificates signed by the Minister for Labour and the Labour Commissioner.

The first grievant, Harrison Mutua Kamuti, was employed by the respondents on 9th April, 1986, as a receptionist at a monthly salary of Sh. 1,570, together with a house allowance of Sh. 400. The claimants alleged that he was shortly promoted to the position of head receptionist at a salary of Sh. 2,298 per month, but his house allowance remained unchanged. The respondents denied this and averred, on the contrary, that at the time of his dismissal on 21st January, 1989, the grievant was a receptionist grade IV, earning a total monthly emolument of Sh. 2,298 i.e., Sh. 1,789 being his salary and 500 house allowance.

The second grievant was employed by the respondents on 3rd February, 1986, as a telephone operator at a consolidated monthly salary of Sh. 1,200. She remained in this position and at the time of her dismissal on 21st January, 1989, she was earning a salary of Sh. 1,929 per month.

The reasons for the grievants' summary dismissal as aforesaid are that at about 3.00 a.m. on the night of 20th/21st January, 1989, Mr. Baramjeet Singh Mahajan ("Tinu") (R.W.L.) who is one of the respondents' directors, found them absent from their places of work at the reception and the switch board respectively. The first grievant allegedly went to sleep with a prostitute in room No. 104, contrary to the rules of the hotel, and the second grievant slept in room No. 203.

The claimants took up the matter with the respondents but the parties failed to reach an amicable settlement. Consequently, on 27th February, 1989, the claimants reported a trade dispute to the Minister for Labour under section 4 of the Trade Disputes Act (Cap. 234), and Mr. R. K. Kisia, of Nairobi Labour Office was appointed to act as an investigator. On 2nd August, 1990, the Minister forwarded his report to the parties in which he upheld the respondents' action.

The respondents accepted the minister's report but the claimants rejected it and the matter is now before the court for consideration.

The claimants prayed the court that the grievants should be reinstated in service without loss of benefits for the period they have been out of employment. In addition, the grievants should be paid the arrears of their salaries and house allowances for the period April, 1986 to January 1989 (i.e. 34 months) and February 1986, to January 1989 (i.e. 36 months) respectively. They should also receive two years' compensation in respect of two pairs of uniforms each year.

The respondents, therefore, prayed the court to adopt the ministry's recommendation and reject the claimants' demand in respect of both the grievants.

It is indisputable that the first grievant and a woman were found in a state of undress by Mr. "Tinu" (R.W.I.) in room No. 104 at about 3.00 a.m. on the night of 20th/21st January, 1989. The first grievant deposed that the lady was a guest in the hotel, and at the material time he was showing her how to operate the video in the room in case she needed it. But it is on record that the T.V./Radio Cassette at the hotel is centrally controlled and the last show ends at 11.00 p.m. The lady was not even registered as a guest in accordance with the hotel rules; and she did not come with any luggage for any reasonable person to conclude that she was a genuine guest of the respondents. The second grievant who sat together with the first grievant at the reception counter testified on cross-examination that she did not see any luggage at the reception for the alleged guest. Mr. "Tinu" did not also see any luggage either at the reception or in the room when he flushed out the first grievant and the lady.

All in all, the court is convinced on the facts of this case and the evidence on record that the first grievant and the lady retired to bed in room No. 104 during that odd hour of the morning of 21st January, 1989, for purposes of sexual intercourse. He abused his responsibility by having an affair with the lady in the hotel premises contrary to the rules pertaining thereto; and, in the circumstances, he has nobody to blame but himself. For these reasons the court holds that the grievant was rightly dismissed for his amorous conduct.

The claimants' demand on his behalf is, therefore, rejected as baseless.

The second grievant also suffered summary dismissal for being absent from her place of work when Mr. "Tinu" (R.W.I.) visited the hotel at about 3.00 a.m. on the same night—i.e. 20th/21st January, 1989. It is alleged that she went to sleep in room No. 203 while the first grievant was entertaining his lady visitor in room No. 104. Mr. "Tinu" visited room No. 104 where he found the first grievant, but surprisingly he did not bother to check whether the second grievant was also sleeping in room No. 203. In his evidence he told the court that he did not see the second grievant at all during his brief stay in the hotel. The respondents' case against the second grievant was concentrated on her being late for and remaining absent from work in the past for which she received warning letters as aforesaid. On her own admission during cross-examination, she agreed that this was indeed her habit, but contended that the respondents did not accord her an opportunity to explain why she was either late for or absent from work.

Adverting to the incident which led to her summary dismissal, the court is not satisfied that the respondents have proved their case on the balance of probabilities that the second grievant deserted the switchboard and went to sleep in room No. 203. Mr. "Tinu" was informed that the second grievant was sleeping therein, but he did not take the trouble to check whether she was actually sleeping in room No. 203, as he had done in the case of the first grievant. It is possible that the second grievant was either sleeping in room No. 203, or she was in the ladies' toilet as she had alleged in her evidence to the court. In view of the uncertainty, the court has decided to give her the benefit of doubt, but not to the extent of awarding her either reinstatement or heavy compensation due to her past poor employment record.

In the result and on careful consideration of the facts and evidence on record, the court awards that the second grievant's summary dismissal be reduced to normal termination of service, and she be paid all her terminal benefits as per the parties' collective agreement in force at the time. In addition, she should also be paid four months' salary for loss of employment.

Dated the 23rd August, 1991.

Judge.
