1.0 INTRODUCTION TO NAIROBI CITY COUNTY POLICY ON WATER AND SANITATION

- 1.1 This policy provides guidelines on the management of water and sanitation services within Nairobi City County. The goal is to facilitate equitable, adequate and quality access to water and sanitation services. In this respect, the policy provides the framework for efficiency in water resource management; ensures security and integrity of water and sanitation systems; and defines institutional structures to effectively implement policy.
- 1.2 The Constitution of Kenya, 2010, the Fourth Schedule, has devolved the provision of water and sanitation services to county governments. Under the Water Act, 2002, the provision of these services is the mandate of the national government. The National Water Policy, 2013, (draft); and the Water Bill 2014 (revised 2015) seek to align the institutional framework for water and sanitation services to the provisions of the constitution. These instruments, however, have not been finalized. In the event, this county policy will pro-actively clarify the mandate and responsibility of Nairobi City County Government in the provision of water and sanitation services. This policy will be anchored on Nairobi City County Water and Sanitation Act, 2016.
- 1.3 The demand for water and sanitation services will increase in line with the growth in the population of the City County. This will put pressure on the existing service infrastructure. Rehabilitation and expansion of water and sanitation infrastructure will require substantial technical and financial resources. Resource mobilization is therefore a key development objective in the City County water and sanitation sector.
- 1.4 Partnership with different stakeholders is necessary for effective service delivery. Key stakeholders are National Government, cross-county Governments, catchment and riparian communities, regulatory agencies, development partners and the private sector. This policy recognizes the role of diverse partners in the provision of water and sanitation services; and creates a framework for stakeholder engagement and participation in the management of the sector.

2.0 BACKGROUND TO THE POLICY ON WATER AND SANITATION

- 2.1 The Constitution of Kenya 2010 (Section 62) defines water resource as public land ("all rivers and other water bodies as defined by an Act of Parliament"). In this respect, therefore, water is a public resource to be managed by the national government in trust for the people of Kenya. The Constitution (Fourth Schedule) however, allocates the responsibility to provide water and sanitation services to the county government. Section 43 of the Constitution establishes a right to "clean and safe water in adequate quantities". The national government is mandated to take steps to progressively realize this right (Section 21). In the event, the management of the water resources and the provision of water and sanitation services are a shared responsibility of the national and county governments.
- 2.2 These policy and legislative frameworks should be seen in the context of Vision 2030, particularly the Social Pillar, which seeks "to ensure water and improved sanitation availability and access to all by 2030". Related to this is the internationally agreed Sustainable Development Goal No.6: "ensure access to water and sanitation for all by 2030". Specific targets to address this SDG include access to equitable, safe and affordable drinking water for all; access to adequate and equitable sanitation; increased water use efficiency; and protection and restoration of water related ecosystems.
- 2.3 Kenya is a signatory to United Nations Framework Convention on Climate Change (UNFCCC). Within this framework, Kenya has developed the Kenya National Climate Change Response Strategy (2010) and Kenya National Climate Change Action Plan (2012). These policy frameworks enable Kenya to reduce vulnerability to climate change and improve the country's ability to take advantage of the opportunities that climate change offers. Specific adaptation objectives include low carbon resilient development pathways including increased forest cover; sustainable water resource management; and improved waste management and sewerage systems.
- 2.4 Kenya is in transition to Green Economy. In line with the outcome document of the United Nations Conference on Sustainable Development (Rio +20), Kenya has embraced green economy as the development pathway that promotes resource efficiency and sustainable management of natural resources; social inclusion, resilience, equality; and sustainable infrastructure development. Key components of the green economy include: renewable energy resources; access to clean water and sanitation; resource efficiency and water harvesting, storage and distribution; cleaner production; resilience to climatic and economic shocks; environmental planning; and governance and restoration of forest ecosystem.
- 2.5 Other relevant National policy frameworks include the National Policy on Water Resource Management and Development (1999); which set the stage for fundamental reforms in the water sector, leading to the enactment of the Water Act, 2002; the National Water Masterplan (2030); the Masterplan for Conservation and Sustainable Management of Water Catchment areas of Kenya; and the draft National Water Policy, (2013). The draft National Water Policy informs the Water Bill, 2015, and seeks to align the management of the water and sanitation sector to the provision of the Constitution of Kenya, 2010.
- 2.6 This Policy promotes the principles of the devolved system of government as anchored in the constitution. The policy takes into account the legislative framework for devolved government, specifically, the Urban Areas and Cities Act, 2011; County Governments Act, 2012; and the Inter-Governmental Relations Act, 2012.
- 2.7 Water is a social and economic good. It is also a constitutional right. The demand for water has increased in response to increased population and economic activities. Access to safe and reliable water in urban areas was targeted at 80 per cent by 2015 (Vision 2030). While NCC has achieved this target, the national level achievement is estimated at 53 per cent. Similarly, access to sewerage services was expected to increase to 40 per cent in urban areas. The national actual realization is 16 per cent. Sewerage coverage in NCC is above the national average, at 30 per cent.

2.8 The shortfall in access targets for water and sanitation is attributed to inadequate development and management of water sources; weak coordination of water resource management strategies for wetlands, water towers, land reclamation and rehabilitation; inadequate rain harvesting and storage; climate change variability; and inadequate funding. Notwithstanding that Kenya is a water scarce country (650 cubic meters per capita against the global benchmark of 1000 cubic meters per capita), the country has potential to increase the available water through innovative water resource management strategies. These include integrated management of water resources; rain water harvesting and storage; and effective coordination of sector institutions.

2.9 It should be noted that water and sanitation are also public health issues. Globally, it is estimated that 2.4 million deaths (4.2 per cent of all deaths); and 80 per cent of all illness, could be attributed to unreliable water sources and poor sanitation. This challenge is more prevalent in developing countries. In Kenya, poor sanitation costs Kshs. 27.0 billion each year in terms of lost production, diseases control and illness treatment. Recent episodes of cholera outbreaks have been recorded in the country. These outbreaks occur mainly in the low income areas where the standards of sanitation are low.

3.0 PUBLIC PARTICIPATION IN POLICY DEVELOPMENT

3.1 Public participation in the policy and legislative process is a constitutional requirement. Section 196 of the Constitution requires a county assembly to “facilitate a public participation and involvement in the legislative and other business of the assembly and its committees”. Considering that this policy is anchored on the County water Act, it has been necessary to engage the public and stakeholders in the policy development.

3.2 Individual key stakeholders have been interviewed to obtain their input into diverse aspects of the policy. Experts in the water and sanitation sector have been consulted in a technical forum; also consulted is the water and sanitation committee of the County Assembly. Implementing stakeholders, specifically, the executive management of the County Government and the Nairobi City Water and Sewerage Company Ltd. management have provided input into the policy process. The wider stakeholders have been engaged in a structured workshop on all aspects of this policy. The enactment of the County Water Act, 2016, is informed by this policy.

4.0 GUIDING PRINCIPLES OF THE NAIROBI CITY COUNTY POLICY ON WATER AND SANITATION

The principles guiding this policy are derived from the introductory and background parts of this document; the national policy frameworks for social and economic development; and the global best practice in the management of water and sanitation services. These principles are now presented:

4.1 This policy promotes access to clean and safe water in adequate quantities in line with Section 43 of the Constitution of Kenya, 2010. It envisages the progressive realization of this right as provided in Section 21 of the Constitution.

4.2 The policy promotes the constitutional mandate of the National and County Governments for sustainable management of water resources and effective provision of water and sanitation services. In this respect, the policy operationalizes the distinct and complimenting roles of the national and county governments in water sector service delivery.

4.3 The policy derives from the National Policy frameworks for social and economic development, specifically, Vision 2030, the Medium Term Plan of Vision 2030, the National Water Policy, 2013 and the Water Bill, 2015. It adopts the principles of universal access to water and sanitation as provided in the global Sustainable Development Goals.

4.4 This policy is aligned to the National and County institutional and regulatory frameworks for water and sanitation services; and recognizes the important role of cross-county institutions, the private sector and communities in water resource management and service delivery.

4.5 The policy promotes integrated approach to the provision of water and sanitation services. This integration recognizes the need to align water and sanitation infrastructure to the other county planning frameworks to create a clean and compact city.

4.6 This policy presents a framework for provision of water and sanitation services in low income areas; and promotes inclusive and equitable provision of services in these areas through socially responsible commercialization of services.

4.7 The policy promotes partnership between different stakeholders in the management of water resources; and in the provision of water and sanitation services. This partnership is strengthened through structured stakeholder dialogue mechanisms.

4.8 Private sector investments are embedded in this policy through investor friendly legal frameworks, including public private partnerships.

4.9 Innovative strategies have been adopted to facilitate mobilization of the substantial resources necessary to develop the water and sanitation services infrastructure. These include sector participation, commercial loans and strategic investments in specific projects. Ring-fencing of revenue is embedded in the policy to ensure sustainable service delivery.

5.0 THE STRUCTURE OF THE POLICY ON WATER AND SANITATION

5.1 This policy adopts a holistic and integrated approach to the management of the water and sanitation services. Given the complexity of the sector, the policy is structured into ten themes, for ease of presentation. These themes are:

(i) Water Resource Management and the role of Nairobi City County (NCC);

(ii) Institutional framework for the water and sanitation sectors;

(iii) Regulatory framework for the water and sanitation sectors;

(iv) Provision of water and sanitation service in the county;

(v) Service provision in low income areas (informal settlements);

(vi) Mobilization and utilization of Funds for service provision for water and sanitation service;

(vii) Private sector investment in water and sanitation service;

(viii) Stakeholder engagement and participation;

(x) Governance of Nairobi City Water and Sewerage Company Ltd.

5.2 Each of these themes will be discussed in relation to the mandate of the Nairobi City County for the provision of water and sanitation services. This mandate is derived from the Constitution and the legislative framework envisaged in the Water Bill, 2014 (2015). The specific responsibility of the County Government will be articulated; and the policy to guide the management of the sector codified into policy statements.

6.0 WATER RESOURCE MANAGEMENT AND THE ROLE OF NAIROBI CITY COUNTY

- 6.1 The National and County Governments have distinct but complimentary roles in the management of water resources. The primary role of the National Government is to protect and conserve water catchment areas; safeguard the integrity of the water ecosystems; develop policy on water resource management; and co-ordinate policy implementation. The County Governments are partners in water conservation and protection. This role is coordinated through cross-county joint boards and Basin Water Resources Committees. The County Governments have the important responsibility of ensuring conservation of the water environment in riparian areas to avoid soil erosion and source pollution. The County Governments are responsible for the provision of water and sanitation services within their areas of jurisdiction. This entails the abstraction, production, storage, and distribution of water; and the management of waste water and sanitation services.
- 6.2 The complimentary roles of the National and County Governments in water resources management calls for policy coherence and alignment in the sector management. Nairobi City County will therefore align this policy to national policy frameworks for water resource management, including the Water Bill, 2015. In effect, therefore, planning for water and sanitation management will be integrated into the National Government plans for water resource management; environmental conservation and management; and ecosystem management.
- 6.3 Most of the water used in Nairobi City County is abstracted from the Aberdare Ranges, in the counties of Murang'a, Nyandarua and Kiambu. The partnership with these Counties is therefore essential to the supply of sustainable water into the City County. This partnership is envisaged in the Inter-Governmental Relations Act, 2012; and the Water Bill, 2015. Water transmission through the riparian communities in these counties is also a cross-county relations issue. The communities, however, will require incentives to engage in sustainable land management practices within the riparian areas; and ensure the integrity of water supply infrastructure. It is therefore necessary for the City County to set aside a specific budget to sustain cross-county partnerships.
- 6.4 Wetlands are important sources of water. Other sources are ground water aquifers, boreholes, rain water and storm water. There is need to map all sources of water in the City County. The resultant water resources maps will inform the investment plans to harness and manage water from different sources.
- 6.5 Water and Sanitation Services are part of the overall systems infrastructure within the City County. This calls for an integrated approach to planning and management of water and sanitation services in relation to other services infrastructure. This means that water and sanitation infrastructure should be aligned to other County infrastructure, particularly roads and housing development and storm water drainage. In addition, the development of water and sewerage infrastructure should be integrated to create a clean and "compact City". This calls for alignment of water and sewerage systems infrastructure. There is also the need to harmonize infrastructure development standards. For example, while this policy promotes rain water harvesting from residential buildings, the building by-laws is against this initiative.
- 6.6 Integrating the provision of water and sanitation services within the systems infrastructure will require a multi-sectoral approach to planning and development of the City County. In effect therefore planning for roads, housing and riparian development; and any related approval process, will require a multi-sectoral management unit within the planning department of the City County Government.
- 6.7 The policy on the provision of water and sanitation services in Nairobi City County will be informed by the context of water resource management as discussed on the preceding sections. The policy will address the distinction in the roles of National and County Governments; partnership in the management of water resources; and planning and management of water and sanitation services. The overriding goal of this policy is improved access to safe, reliable and quality water and sanitation services to the residents of the Nairobi City County.
- 6.8 Policy statements on water resource management
- (i) Nairobi City County will be an effective partner in water resource management. In this respect, NCC will partner with the national government, government agencies, county governments, development partners, communities and the private sector in the conservation and protection of catchment areas; and the promotion of sustainable land management practices among the riparian communities. The County Government will allocate a specific budget for this purpose. The County Government will be an active member of the Basin Water Resources Committees and the cross-county catchment management committees;
 - (ii) NCC will adopt an integrated approach to planning, development and management of water and sanitation services. This integration will be at two levels, viz: water resource management and the service delivery level. At the water resource management level, planning will recognize the multi-sectoral nature of the water sector. In effect, planning will be integrated into National Government plans for water resource management; environmental conservation and management; and ecosystem management. It will be necessary, therefore, to align the County Integrated Development Plan to the National Policy Framework.
 - (iii) At the water and sanitation services provision level, integration will recognize the inter-linkage between water and sanitation services; the physical infrastructures in roads and housing; spatial planning; and land use planning. In addition, the development of water and sanitation infrastructure, particularly the sewerage system will be integrated in the development of water distribution infrastructure; and management of the waste water.
 - (iv) NCC will adopt a holistic approach to the provision of water and sanitation services. In effect, NCC will plan and manage the whole water cycle from abstraction, production, storage, distribution and waste water management. This is informed by the need to provide quality service to customers;
 - (v) Wetlands are important sources of water. NCC will map and preserve all wetlands in the county; and develop plans for effective management of this resource. Other sources of water include boreholes, groundwater aquifers, rain harvesting and storm water management. Storm water could be used for industrial and other non-human consumption purposes. The City County will invest in the harnessing and management of water resources from different sources.
 - (vi) Waste water treatment and re-use is an important source of water. NCC will encourage, through fiscal and other incentives, the re-use of treated water waste, particularly for non-human consumption purposes.
 - (vii) NCC will establish a multi-sectoral management unit within the Planning Department to coordinate the approval process on all aspects of infrastructure planning and development.
 - (viii) The Director of Water and Sanitation will ensure that water and sanitation plans are integrated into the county development planning frameworks; and that these plans are reviewed annually.

7.0 INSTITUTIONAL FRAMEWORK FOR WATER AND SANITATION SERVICES

- 7.1 The multi-sectoral nature of water and sanitation services is reflected in the diverse players in the sector. At the National Government level, the sector responsibility is located at the Ministry of Water and Irrigation. Other ministries with responsibility in the sector are the Ministry of Environment and Natural Resources; Ministry of Energy and the Ministry of Mining. These high level institutions develop policy on different aspects of water resource management; and co-ordinate policy implementation. Government agencies with policy implementation role in the sector are: Water Resources Management Authority (WRMA); Water Services Regulatory Board (WASREB); Kenya Water Towers Agency (KWTa); Kenya Forests Service (KFS); National Environmental Management Authority (NEMA); and Regional Development Authorities (RDA).

- 7.2 At operational level, relevant institutions in the sector are Water Service Boards (WSBs); County Governments; Water Service Providers (WSPs); and Water Services Trust Fund (WSTF). The Water Bill, 2014 (revised 2015) has reviewed the existing institutional framework and presented a reformed framework at the regulatory and operational levels. In this respect, Water Resources Authority (WRA) and the Water Regulatory Board (WRB) will take over the functions currently performed by WARMA and WASREB, respectively. The functions of WRA include formulation and enforcement of standards for the management and use of water resources; regulation, management and use of water resources; and co-ordination with other regional, national and international bodies for better regulation and management and use of water resources.
- 7.3 The principal object of WRB is to protect the interests and rights of consumers in the provision of water services. More specifically, WSRB determines and prescribes National standards for the provision of water services and asset development for water service provision; evaluates and recommends water and sewerage tariffs to the County water service providers; and monitors compliance with standards.
- 7.4 Other institutions established under the Water Bill, 2015, are: Water Harvesting and Storage Authority; Water Work Development Agencies; Basin Water Resources Committees; and Water Resource Users Associations. Institutions abolished are: the National Water Conservation and Pipeline Corporation; the Water Service Boards; and Catchment Conservation Advisory Committees. The institutional framework envisaged in Water Bill 2014/15, are included in Annex 1.
- 7.5 It will be noted that Inter-Governmental Relations Act, 2012, makes provision for the establishment of cross-county joint committee with a specific mandate of the achievement of the objects and principles of devolution (Sec 23). Consequently, Sec 67 of Water Bill, 2015, provides that water services public works constructed by the Water Works Development Agency could be handed over to the cross-county joint committee for operations by the relevant county water service providers. Similar provisions are made in Section 151 of water Bill, 2015.
- 7.6 At the County level the role of WSBs will be assumed by the County Governments (Water Bill, 2014/15). The Counties will license WSPs in accordance with criteria developed by WRB. The WSP will be the agent of the County in the provision of water and sanitation services. The County Government must ensure that WSPs comply with the water and sanitation service standards set by WSRB.
- 7.7 Policy statements on the institutional framework for the water and sanitation sector.
 - (i) NCC will work within the institutional framework developed in the Water Bill, 2014/2015; and will develop a legal mechanism to anchor this partnership;
 - (ii) NCC will provide leadership in the establishment of a cross-county joint committee should this be necessary for effective provision of water and sanitation services within the city county.
 - (iii) In line with the requirement Section 70 of the Water Bill, 2015, NCC will license the County Water Service Providers (WSP). For this purpose, Nairobi City Water and Sewerage Company Ltd, is considered the County WSP;
 - (iv) NCC recognizes that there are other WSPs currently providing services in some parts of the county. In consultation with these WSPs and stakeholders; and as a transitional measure, NCC will create legal frameworks where these WSPs will transfer their assets to NCC or continue rendering service as agents of NCWSC. In the latter case, NCWSC will monitor the service provision by the WSPs to ensure that they conform to standards set by NCC and WRB are met;
 - (v) NCC will approve water and sanitation service tariffs, having regard to guidelines set by WRB; and social and the economic conditions prevailing in the county;
 - (vi) The provision of water and sanitation services has been delegated to Nairobi City Water and Sewerage Company Ltd. To ensure effective and efficient provision of services, NCC will enter into a detailed service delivery protocol with NCWSC. The protocol will ensure that water and sanitation management standards are effectively implemented; promote private sector investments in the water and sanitation sector; promote stakeholder participation in policy planning and implementation; and produce and disseminate up to date data and information, as per WRB guidelines.
 - (vii) NCC will strengthen the capacity of the County Directorate of Water and Sanitation to ensure that the Directorate is able to effectively manage the sector through the delegated process; and effectively monitor the quality of service delivered by NCWSC and other WSPs against defined standards.

8.0 REGULATORY FRAMEWORK FOR WATER AND SANITATION SECTOR

- 8.1 The Water Bill, 2014/15 provides that the sector regulation is the national government responsibility. This is informed by the mandate of the national government to ensure policy coherence in the management of water sector; and the constitutional obligation of government to ensure access to “clean, safe and adequate water” (Section 43). The national government is obliged to take steps to progressively realize this right (Sec. 21).
- 8.2 The regulation of water is at two levels: water resource management; and water and sanitation provision. This is informed by the need to separate the supply and management of water resources; and the protection of rights and interests of consumers in the provision of water and sanitation services. This separation in roles provides optimal balance in the management of the sector. It has been observed, however, that two regulatory institutions in the sector could duplicate roles and burden the consumers through administrative costs and overheads. It has been suggested that the water sector regulation can be cost-effective if merged into one institution.
- 8.3 Regulation and standard setting in the water sector is the responsibility of the National Government. If Counties were to set standards, this would create potential conflict of interest, noting that Counties are mandated to provide water and sanitation services within their locations. Regulation by National Government creates a level playing field in the provision of services. County governments, however, enforce compliance with national standards. This is consistent with the role of county governments to license WSPs and monitor their performance. Tariff setting is the responsibility of the counties. This must, however, be within the guidelines set by WRB.
- 8.4 There are other regulatory institutions in the water and sanitation sector. These include the National Environment Management Authority (NEMA), Kenya Bureau of Standards (KEBS) and Public Health Institutions. There is a clear need to harmonize service delivery standards in the sector to avoid regulatory overlaps thereby compromising service standards.
- 8.5 Policy statements on the regulation of water and sanitation services

- (i) NCC will license WSPs (NCWSC); develop standards of service delivery in line with guidelines set by WRA and WRB; and enforce compliance with set standards;
- (ii) NCC will set tariffs in the provision of water and sanitation services, within guidelines approved by the regulator (WRB).

9.0 PROVISION OF WATER AND SANITATION SERVICES IN NAIROBI CITY COUNTY

- 9.1 The demand for water and sanitation services will rise in relation to the growth of the population in NCC. The population of the Nairobi City County was estimated at 3.9 million in 2015. This is expected to increase to 4.0 million, 4.4 million and 5.7 million for the periods 2017, 2020 and 2030, respectively. The corresponding demand for water is estimated at 672,000; 731,000 and 1,022,000 cubic meters per day, respectively. These figures are substantially in line with the Urban Infrastructure Development Strategy of the Integrated Urban Development Masterplan for the City of Nairobi.
- 9.2 It is estimated that only 80 per cent of the county population access safe and adequate water. This water deficit, estimated at 170,000 m³ per day in 2012, is expected to rise to 280,000m³ per day and 970,000 m³ per day by 2017 and 2035, respectively. Notwithstanding the challenges of water supply, NCC should be clearly focused on the citizen's realization of constitutionally mandated water rights. At the minimum, therefore, Nairobi City County residents should access 6 cubic meters of water per month.
- 9.3 Sewerage generation in NCC 2015 was estimated at 379,359 cubic meters in 2015. Sewerage coverage in NCC is estimated at 30 per cent. The projections for 2020, 2025 and 2030 are 483,000m³, 576,000m³ and 732,000m³, respectively. Taking into account the planned investments in this sub-sector, the coverage is projected at 60 per cent; 70 per cent and 75 per cent for the respective periods. This indicates a substantial shortfall in the provision of sewerage services.
- 9.4 Athi Water Service Boards has developed the Masterplan for water sources for Nairobi City County and 13 satellite towns. A phased approach to close the water supply/demand gap is proposed. Phase I has been completed. It entailed well-field development in Kiunyu and Ruiru. Phase II includes the ongoing development of the Northern Collector Tunnel. Phase III, IV and V are planned to close the water supply/gap beyond 2020. This development infrastructure, when completed, will be handed over to NCWSC for operations (Section 151 – Water Bill, 2015).
- 9.5 A key principle of devolution is to decentralize services to the lowest units of the devolved government. Section 48 of the County Governments Act, 2012, provides for the decentralization of services to sub-counties, wards and such further units as the county government may determine. It is therefore necessary that the provision and management of water and sanitation services should be aligned to this priority.
- 9.6 The urgency of developing a comprehensive plan for the distribution network is informed by the rapid urbanization of the City County. In many cases, unplanned buildings have come up thus necessitating re-alignment of the water distribution pipelines. An important consideration in system rehabilitation is the high Non-Revenue Water, currently estimated at 40 per cent of production. Reducing this loss to the benchmark 20 per cent will require an aggressive strategy of systems upgrade. This, in turn, will require substantial financial resources. Given the urgency of this matter, NCC should develop a priority Investment Programme to close the gap in water demand and supply.
- 9.7 In line with the Integrated Urban Development Masterplan for Nairobi City County, the provision of water and sanitation services should be fully integrated into the physical planning framework of the county. This will entail aligning water and sanitation service infrastructure with the housing and urban development plans, including spatial planning and land use policies. NCC will develop a strategy for integrating water and sanitation plans into the Integrated Urban Development Masterplan.
- 9.8 It is now recognized that water and sanitation services should be integrated to create a "Compact City". In effect, the County Government will develop an integrated water and sanitation system within the City. This will reduce the public health hazards presented by on-site sanitation systems. In this respect, NCC will invest in lateral sewer connections as part of the water and sanitation infrastructure development. The cost of sewer connections will be recovered from developers in the form of service charge, over an extended period. This approach will allow faster development of housing and related infrastructure. The current system in which the developer is expected to invest in lateral connections into the sewer system is a barrier to urban development; and negatively impacts on public health.
- 9.9 Nairobi City County is the economic "hub" of Kenya and East Africa. It is therefore reasonable to expect that the National Government should supplement County investment in water and sanitation services. This is necessary to ensure that service delivery in the County presents a positive image of the Country. The most appropriate approach to water and sanitation infrastructure development support is for the National Government to contribute to the funding of strategic investments, preferably in water production and sewerage systems.
- 9.10 Security of water production and storage installations is a national safety concern. This responsibility should be shared between the county and national governments. A framework for partnership in securing these installations should be developed in line with the proposed Bill for the protection of strategic infrastructure. In the meantime, the Nairobi City County will gazette all water installations and facilities to enhance their security. Similarly, the protection of land and way leaves required for service infrastructure should be secured. In this respect, NCC should ensure that such land is gazette as a public asset by the National Land Commission.
- 9.11 The key consideration in the provision of water and sanitation services is efficiency, cost-effectiveness and high quality of customer service. Operational efficiency could be enhanced by application of technology. This has already been piloted in water billing, with positive results. The next level is to roll-out this accounts management platform; and invest further in systems management software. This approach could dramatically reduce process loss and Non-Revenue Water in line with global benchmarks. Efficiency parameters should be developed as part of the performance management system to be embedded in the Protocol between NCC and NCWSC. These parameters should be designed to encourage the use of technology in systems management. Operational efficiency should be anchored in law to empower NCWSC to effectively manage the water and sanitation systems.
- 9.12 Notwithstanding the heavy investments required to develop, expand and maintain the water and sanitation infrastructure; and the social service obligations inherent in improved access to water rights, it is expected that service delivery should be sustainable. In effect, therefore, the provision of water and sanitation services should be commercially viable. At the very minimum, the pricing approach to service delivery should meet the operations and maintenance costs.
- 9.13 Global developments in the water resource management and the provision of water and sanitation services are continually evolving. New systems of management and technological developments require that the city county is at the forefront of these dynamics. Climate change variability and the transition to green economy will require appropriate technological response. In the event, there is need to continually research and develop new systems and technologies for managing the water and sanitation services. This calls for a research and development capability within the Directorate of water and sanitation.
- 9.14 In the management and provision of water and sanitation services, emergencies are likely to occur. These could be related to floods, drought, storm water and outbreaks of fire. The County Government and NCWSC should be adequately prepared to deal with all foreseen and potential emergencies in the provision of water and sanitation services.

9.15 Policy statements on water and sanitation services in Nairobi City County

- (i) In line with Water Bill, 2014/15, NCC will take operational responsibility for all water and sanitation service infrastructure in the county. This will include service infrastructure for abstraction, production, storage and distribution of water; and sanitation infrastructure, including the sewerage system;
- (ii) NCC will develop an integrated strategy for water and sanitation services in line with the Integrated Development Masterplan for the City County. This will take into account the infrastructure development currently under implementation by AWSB in the Context of the Masterplan for Developing New Water Sources for Nairobi City County and 13 Satellite Towns. The medium and long term plans in this Masterplan will be reviewed for their consistency with the County Integrated Urban Development Masterplan;
- (iii) In line with the principles of devolution, NCC will ensure that the provision and management of water and sanitation services will be decentralized to sub-counties and wards;
- (iv) Solid waste management is an integral component of sanitation services. It is also a public health and environmental management issue. NCC will therefore integrate solid waste management into the water and sanitation services strategy;
- (v) NCC will develop a framework for investment in sewerage infrastructure on the basis that this investment will be recovered from the developers, in the long term. NCC will also develop a legal framework to allow on-site treatment plants in urban and peri-urban areas; and will provide incentives for deployment of innovative technologies for this purpose;
- (vi) Given the substantial and urgent resources required to meet the demand for water and sanitation services, in the short and medium term, NCC will develop a prioritized Investment Plan and Programmes to improve service delivery infrastructure. The objective in the short term be to make available a minimum of 6 cubic meters of clean and safe water to each resident of the city county per month.
- (vii) NCC will legally empower NCWSC to effectively provide water and sanitation services. To guide operational efficiency, NCC will develop performance standards which will be monitored on a regular basis. This will encourage the use of service delivery technologies to reduce Non-Revenue Water; and improve the quality of customer service. Performance will be included in the service delivery protocol between NCC and NCWSC;
- (viii) Considering that the status of water and sanitation in the metropolitan urban areas could negatively impact the public health of city residents, NCC will empower NCWSC, through the Nairobi City County Water Act, to provide water and sanitation services in these areas, in the long term;
- (ix) Security of water installations is a strategic safety issue for the country. NCC will partner with national government to develop and implement a strategy to safeguard these assets. A legal and institutional framework to facilitate this partnership will be developed. NCC will gazette all water installations and facilities to enhance their security. NCC will also engage the National Land Commission to ensure that land and wayleaves required for infrastructure development are secured through a gazette Notice;
- (x) NCC will ensure that the pricing policy for water and sanitation services will meet operational and maintenance costs; and make a contribution to the investment needs of the service infrastructure;
- (xi) NCC will subsidize the provision of water and sanitation services in the low income areas to ensure progressive realization of rights for access to water and sanitation as mandated under Section 43 of the Constitution.
- (xii) NCC will establish a research and development unit within the Directorate of Water and Sanitation to pro-act to the developments and technological needs of water resource management; and the effective provision of water and sanitation services;
- (xiii) NCC will in collaboration with the National government and NCWSC will put in place a disaster management system to handle all water and sanitation related emergencies.

10.0 WATER AND SANITATION SERVICE PROVISION IN THE LOW INCOME AREAS

- 10.1 It is estimated that 40 per cent of NCC residents live in the low income areas of the City County. Access to water and sanitation services in these areas is limited by high cost of water from private vendors; low quality of available water; and poor sanitation conditions. Connections to the sewerage systems are limited and on-site sanitation is the norm. With the installation of dispensers in pilot areas and the embedded subsidy in water supply by NCWSC, there are indications that access to water has improved; and the cost of access substantially reduced. This is in line with the progressive realization of water rights as per the Constitution and SDGs.
- 10.2 Due to limited access to water and sanitation services in low income areas, many development partners support service provision in these areas. The approach adopted is to fund international and local non-governmental organizations to provide essential service in these areas. Support is mainly in technical assistance, materials and capacity building. The challenge is lack of effective coordination of service provision by different players, leading to duplicated effort and waste. The need to co-ordinate the activities of different players in the low income areas is therefore urgent. This could be achieved through integrated planning of the water and sanitation services; and co-ordinated management of projects activities. NCWSC should be empowered by law to play this co-ordination role.
- 10.3 Application of innovative technology could improve the quality of service in the low income areas. Application of new technology has improved access to safe, reliable and quality water, while in the sanitation service; the use of "ablutions" blocks has improved sanitary conditions. In line with the integrated development of water and sanitation service, the use of appropriate technology to connect to the sewer lines could further improve the quality of sanitation service, at an affordable cost. Private sector investment in water and sanitation services could enhance service provision. This approach to service delivery will require appropriate fiscal incentives. It is understood that development partners now prefer private sector oriented approach to service delivery in the low income areas. A partnership between NCWSC and private operators could benefit from the commercial orientation of development partners.
- 10.4 The land tenure system in the low income areas limits development of service infrastructure. This arises due to the fact that most inhabitants of low income areas are squatters with no legal right to the land. In this situation, infrastructure planning and development is constrained. It is, however, possible to differentiate land ownership from occupation. In this respect, the approach should be to expand service infrastructure irrespective of land ownership. This approach, however, should be anchored in the County policy and legal framework.
- 10.5 Notwithstanding the challenges of service provision to low income areas, NCC is committed to the progressive realization of water access rights as per Section 43 of the Constitution. There is merit therefore in subsidizing water and sanitation services provision in the low income areas.
- 10.6 Policy statements on water and sanitation service in low income areas.
 - (i) NCC will harmonize the provision of water and sanitation services among different players in the low income areas. Appropriate law and regulations will be enacted for this purpose.

- (ii) To achieve harmony and orderly development of water and sanitation services, NCC will integrate the planning and provision of services in the low income areas into the water and sanitation service strategy. This, in turn, will be linked to the Integrated Urban Development Masterplan;
- (iii) NCC will promote private investments in the low income areas to support development and delivery of water and sanitation services. Appropriate incentives will be provided for this purpose. This will be anchored in the City County Water Act;
- (iv) NCC will subsidize the provision of water and sanitation services in the low areas to ensure progressive realization of rights for access to water and sanitation as mandated under Section 43 of the Constitution.

11.0 RESOURCE MOBILIZATION FOR WATER AND SANITATION SERVICES IN NAIROBI CITY COUNTY

- 11.1 Expansion of the water and sanitation services infrastructure to meet the demand of an increasing urban population requires substantial resources. The total required funds to implement the Masterplan for New Water Sources (AWSB) up to the year 2035 is US Dollar 1.9 billion, equivalent to Kshs. 190.0 billion. The specific component for the Nairobi City is US $ 1.0 billion, equivalent to Kshs. 100 billion. It is expected that Development Partners will fund different components of the Masterplan. Initial investments have been secured from the World Bank (US Dollar 186.0 million and AFD (Euros 100.0 million). These investments will fund the initial phases of the Masterplan.
- 11.2 In the Strategic Plan period: 2015-2019, NCWSC plans to spend a total of Kshs. 42.0 billion in infrastructure development and improved service delivery. The source of these funds is development partners, internally generated funds and private sector investments (PPP).
- 11.3 Notwithstanding the current indications on source of funds, it should be noted that actual investments in the water and sanitation sector have traditionally been lower than the budgetary indications. For example, in 2013/14, the national government budget for the sector was Kshs. 75.0 billion. The actual development fund available in that year was Kshs. 12.0 billion. The shortfall for the year is therefore Kshs. 63.0 billion. It is likely that this trend will continue. This means that NCC and NCWSC will have to develop innovative strategies to mobilize essential development funds. Development partners have been the primary source of funds for sector development. A more pro-active policy of mobilizing private sector investments is necessary.
- 11.4 While the National Government has not in the past directly funded the cost of water and sanitation infrastructure in NCC, it is possible that this source of funds could be explored. The National Government should contribute to the development of NCC, given that the county is the national "economic hub" of the Country. As the economic regional hub, particularly in financial, health and educational sectors, Nairobi City County should present a positive image of the country. It will also be noted that Nairobi City County earns in excess of 50 per cent of the national gross domestic product (GDP). There is merit, therefore, in seeking water and sanitation development resources from the National Government. The viable approach could be to define specific strategic projects for budgetary support by the national government.
- 11.5 The private sector and communities are viable source of development funds. For these investments to be realized, however, an enabling policy and legal framework is required. The Public Private Partnership Act, 2013, provides the legal basis for private sector investments. This Act should, however, be devolved to county level investments.
- 11.6 The urgency of rehabilitating and expanding the service delivery infrastructure has been discussed. What should also be understood is the public health hazards presented by limited access to water and sanitation services in the low income areas. These health challenges affect both high and low income areas noting that each high income area is surrounded by a low income area. A related consideration is the sewerage system, currently standing at 30 per cent. Existing sewerage system is also in need of rehabilitation, particularly in the eastern parts of the city county.
- 11.7 To supplement the resources currently available to address the urgent needs of the sector, there is merit in NCC allocating a specific amount from the development budget for continuous improvement of the water and sanitation services infrastructure. In addition, and in the spirit of equity, equality and inclusiveness, the well-off members of society should contribute to service delivery challenges of the low income areas. An appropriate contribution mechanism is to pay a development levy on each monthly bill. This approach to development is the norm in other sectors, for example, the energy and roads sectors.
- 11.8 The establishment of the Water and Sanitation Development Fund should be aligned to Sections 104 and 116 of the Public Finance Management Act, 2012 as revised in 2015. While the CEC Member for Finance shall designate the Fund Administrator, the governance of the Fund should include stakeholders in the sector. This will enhance ownership of the Fund by stakeholders; and also ensure that funds are utilized for the intended purposes.
- 11.9 Policy Statements on Resource Mobilization
- (i) NCC will enact laws and regulations to allow and guide private investments in the water and sanitation services. This legal framework will enable the private sector to invest at all levels of the water and sanitation value chain (production, transmission, storage and treatment, distribution and waste water management). The law will provide fiscal and other incentives to promote private sector investments in the sector;
 - (ii) NCC will engage the national government to fund strategic investments in the water and sanitation sector, through the national budget;
 - (iii) NCC will allocate a specific budget to support infrastructure development in the water and sanitation sector. This will be allocated from the development budget and will not exceed 10 per cent of the county relevant budget;
 - (iv) NCC will establish a Water and Sanitation Development Fund to support service delivery in the low income areas; and to support development of city county sewerage infrastructure. The Fund, which will not exceed 20 per cent of the monthly bill, will be managed as provided in Section 104 and 116 of the Public Finance Management Act, 2012; but will include relevant stakeholders in the governance structure;
 - (v) NCC will provide autonomy to NCWSC to "ring-fence" water and sanitation services revenue for re-investment in the sector. This is in line with the provisions of Water Bill, 2014/15;
 - (vi) Resources mobilization at NCC should be understood in the context of sourcing funds, managing funds and accounting for these resources. NCC will therefore strengthen the capacity at the Directorate of Water and Sanitation to effectively access and manage funds from different sources.

12.0 PRIVATE SECTOR INVESTMENTS IN THE WATER AND SANITATION SECTOR

- 12.1 It is now accepted that the private sector is a viable source of development funds for public infrastructure. This source complements national budgetary allocations. The Public Private Partnership Act, 2013, provides the legal framework for the partnership between government and private sector for the development of public infrastructure. County governments are expected to localize this Act in support of public infrastructure development, including water and sanitation services infrastructure.

- 12.2 There are different forms of private sector investments. These include PPP in county public works; commercial service contracts at different levels of the value chain; and privatization of the last mile activities (waste-water management and solid waste management). It is possible for private investors to inject capital into NCWSC through equity participation. It has been observed through best practice that where government commercializes operations, this must be preceded by a robust investment programme to ensure that the service infrastructure is able to deliver the expected service.
- 12.3 It is necessary to attract private investments into the low income areas. Considering that private investment must be commercially viable, it is necessary to provide specific incentives and/or subsidies to attract private sector investments. These incentives are necessary in view of the social sector orientation in the low income areas.
- 12.4 Policy on private sector investments in the water and sanitation sector.
- (i) NCC will enact laws to allow private sector investments in the water and sanitation sector;
 - (ii) NCC will enact at county level the provisions of Public Private Partnership Act, 2013; and develop regulations to guide the implementation of the City County PPP Act;
 - (iii) NCC will provide incentives to the private sector to invest in water and sanitation services. These will include fiscal incentives, subsidies, particularly in support of service provision in low income areas; and access to land and roads infrastructure.

13.0 STAKEHOLDER ENGAGEMENT AND PARTICIPATION

- 13.1 Public participation in policy development processes and in the enactment of supporting laws is now a constitutional right. Engaging stakeholders in the water and sanitation sector on issues affecting service delivery is also a key success factor in policy implementation. Stakeholder engagement and participation, to be effective, must be guided by a structured dialogue mechanism. In effect, the county government will actively seek engagement of all relevant stakeholders in formulating strategies and operational plans for the development of the water and sanitation services.
- 13.2 Customer satisfaction survey is an important tool of stakeholder engagement. The outcome of survey should be disseminated to the participating and the wider stakeholders as a way of obtaining feedback on the quality of customer service. This feedback will inform development plans and programmes in the sector. Dissemination could be through stakeholder forums, meetings or conferences. It is important that there is a predictable and continuous mechanism of stakeholder engagement. This creates confidence in stakeholder that these consultations have defined and measureable outcomes.
- 13.3 Appropriate stakeholder consultations could be focused on planned development of infrastructure, expansion in service delivery and performance review. Stakeholder engagement and participation should be cost-effective. It is therefore appropriate that extensive stakeholder consultations be held around the development of the water and sanitation services strategy, every five years. Performance review forums should be held annually. In addition, new policy and programs development should be preceded by adequate stakeholder participation.
- 13.4 Stakeholder engagement should be a continuous process. The Water Bill, 2014/15 provides institutions to entrench stakeholder participation in the water sector. These are Water Resources Users Association and Basin Water Resources Committees. It is necessary that the county government should facilitate residents' engagement in these structures. Additionally, the county government should create a forum where these institutions present their views and proposals on improvement in water resource management; and the effective provision of services in water and sanitation sector. This process should be co-ordinated by the Director of Water and Sanitation, in liaison with NCWSC.
- 13.5 Policy statement on stakeholder engagement and participation
- NCC will develop a structured mechanism for stakeholder engagement and participation in the water and sanitation services. This mechanism will be anchored in the City County Water Act, 2016.

14.0 WATER ASSETS MANAGEMENT AND TRANSITION ARRANGEMENTS

- 14.1 There are three categories of assets in the provision of water and sanitation services, viz; land and immovable property; water and sanitation infrastructure; and other assets. Public land is vested and held by the County Government in trust for the people. Public land will, however, be administered by the National Land Commission on behalf of the National and County Governments.
- 14.2 The transfer of the water infrastructure assets owned by the defunct Nairobi City Council to Athi Water Services Board was not finalized as required by the Water Act, 2002. Nevertheless, NCWSC has been obliged to pay assets lease fees to the Board. NCWSC also makes repayments on outstanding loans.
- 14.3 The Water Bill, 2015, has made provisions for the management of public water services assets. Section 81, for example, provides that a County owned Water Service Provider shall hold County or National public water services assets on behalf of the public. Similarly, Section 151 (1) provides that assets, liabilities and rights acquired by Water Service Boards will be deemed to have been acquired by the County Water Services Providers.
- 14.4 In the transitional arrangements under the Water Bill, 2015, the Cabinet Secretary shall make Regulations for the transfer of National public assets to County Water Service Providers.
- 14.5 It is recognized that communities and the private sector could mobilize resources to develop connections to the sewerage system. In this case these assets, when fully developed, will revert to NCC, under a legal framework developed for this purpose.
- 14.6 Policy statements on water assets management
- (i) Under the Regulations made by the Cabinet Secretary; and in collaboration with AWSB and NCWSC, NCC will develop a Transition Plan to guide the management of the water and sanitation assets as provided in the Water Bill, 2015;
 - (ii) NCC will identify and earmark existing and potential land required for water and sanitation services. This will be registered in the name of the National Land Commission on behalf of NCC;
 - (iii) NCC will cause land identified and earmarked for water and sanitation services to be vested on Nairobi City Water and Sewerage Company Ltd for the purpose of service delivery;
 - (iv) NCC will transfer ownership of the existing water and sewerage services infrastructure to NCWSC for service delivery, within clearly defined operational standards;

(v) NCC will facilitate the transfer of water and sewerage services assets from AWSB to Nairobi City Water and Sewerage Company Ltd as provided in Section 151 of the Water Bill, 2015;

(vi) NCC will transfer other water services related assets to NCWSC, to be held in trust for the public;

(vii) NCC will develop a legal framework vesting on NCWSC water and sanitation assets developed by the private sector and communities.

15.0 GOVERNANCE OF NAIROBI CITY WATER AND SERVICES CO. LTD

15.1 Nairobi City Water and Sewerage Company Ltd is a public Company wholly owned by NCC. Notwithstanding the sectoral representation of directors on the Board of that Company, NCC has the ultimate control in the governance of NCWSC.

15.2 While NCC will accord NCWSC substantial autonomy to carry out its mandate, it will be necessary to develop a mechanism of accountability to ensure that the Company meets the legitimate interests of the City County residents. This mechanism will include a reporting framework to both the County Government and the City County assembly.

15.3 As provided in the Water Bill, 2015, NCC has appointed NCWSC as the County Water Service Provider. The management of the water and sanitation services should be the subject of a detailed protocol between NCC and the NCWSC. The protocol will define performance standards that meet the aspirations of the city county residents while ensuring the viability and sustainability of service delivery. It is expected that NCWSC will be a viable commercial operation able to attract private sector investments.

15.4 Private investments are an important source of funds for service improvement and infrastructure development. NCWSC should therefore seek to attract private investors into the company through equity participation and or/loans. Private investors will be attracted to fund NCWSC by an appropriate corporate governance framework. This requires that the governance of NCWSC is structured to allow private sector investment into the company; and their representation on the Board of the company.

15.5 Long outstanding and unrecoverable water and sanitation related debts are still reflected in the books of the company. Not only does this compromise the integrity of the company's accounts, but it also creates a poor financial environment for potential private investors. There is merit in an objective assessment of existing debts with a view of writing-off long unrecoverable debts.

15.6 Policy statements in the Governance of NCWSC

(i) NCC will restructure the governance of the NCWSC to allow private sector investment in the company; and provide for the representation of private investors on the board of the company;

(ii) NCC will ensure that NCWSC is commercially viable and financially sustainable; and that the company will be able to attract private investments;

(iii) In partnership with NCC, NCWSC will develop the Governance Charter of the company. The Charter will provide guidelines on the leadership, governance, management and operational integrity of NCWSC;

(iv) NCC will develop a framework for assessing existing debts in the books of NCWSC; and provide guidelines on the write-off of unrecoverable debts;

(v) NCWSC will present half yearly reports to NCC for adoption by the City County Assembly.

16.0 IMPLEMENTATION FRAMEWORK FOR THE POLICY ON WATER AND SANITATION SERVICES

16.1 The legal framework for the Implementation of this policy is the Nairobi City County Water Act, 2016, and the related regulations. The law supports the policy statements developed herein and guides their implementation. The orientation is to pro-actively respond to the needs of a growth and dynamic sector; and to harness resources, including innovative technologies, to develop the requisite services infrastructure. This approach underlines the commitment of NCC to improve the environment of county residents in line with the aspirations of Vision 2030 and Sustainable Development Goals (SDG).

16.2 Within NCC, the institution mandated to co-ordinate the implementation of this policy is the Department responsible for Environment, Energy and Water and Sanitation. Given the integrated nature of water and sanitation services; and the need to align the sector planning to the Urban Integrated Development Masterplan and the County Integrated Development Plan, this co-ordination role will take into account other planning frameworks in the city county. Specific attention will be given to environmental conservation and management; housing and roads infrastructure development; and urban planning and land use policies. The development of water and sanitation services should be aligned to the development of other sectors to contribute to a holistic and integrated planning framework. To enhance the integration of water and sanitation services with the city county planning frameworks, a multi-sectoral management unit will be established within the Planning Department.

16.3 The over-all oversight responsibility for policy development and implementation lies with the CEC member responsible for Environment, Energy, Water and Sanitation. At policy and planning level; and integration of water and sanitation services within the county infrastructure systems, the responsibility lies with the Chief Officer responsible for Environment, Energy and Water and Sanitation. The Director of Water and Sanitation is responsible for operational aspects of policy implementation. This includes performance monitoring of WSPs. In this respect, the CEC member will develop a framework for oversight mechanism of water and sanitation sector involving both the County Executive Management and the County Assembly.

16.4 The high level co-ordination necessary to implement this policy requires that the Directorate of Water and Sanitation has the necessary capacity to undertake this responsibility. Capacity denotes technical competence; institutional structures and system of management; and financial resources to discharge the assigned mandate. It is expected therefore that the Directorate of Water and Sanitation will be strengthened to play the crucial role of policy implementation.

16.5 Effective implementation of the water and sanitation policy will require a robust monitoring and evaluation system. The objective of this system is to gather data and information on the operational and financial performance of the water and sanitation services sector. Key parameters will include the quality, quantity and safety of water provided; the extent of access to water and sanitation services; operational efficiency; and the quality of customer service. The performance will be benchmarked against regulatory standards and global best practice. The outcomes of information will be disseminated to stakeholders in the structured engagement forum; and will be reported to NCC in the half yearly statements.

16.6 NCC will establish a monitoring and evaluation unit within the Directorate of Water and Sanitation. This system will be linked to a similar structure within NCWSC to ensure seamless exchange and dissemination of performance information. The monitoring and evaluation system will be anchored on a knowledge management system that will enable documentation and dissemination of lessons learned from water and sanitation systems management; the outputs of the research and development function; and the global best practice in management.

16.7 Summary of policy implementation framework.

- (i) The legal framework for policy implementation is the Nairobi City County Water Act, 2016, and related regulations;
- (ii) NCC will strengthen the capacity of the Directorate of Water and Sanitation to ensure that structures, systems, competence and resources are available to co-ordinate policy implementation;
- (iii) Within NCC, the institution responsible for policy implementation is the Department of Environment, Energy, Water and Sanitation. The Department will ensure that planning for water and sanitation services is integrated with other city planning frameworks;
- (iv) The over-all oversight of policy development and implementation is the responsibility of the CEC member for Environment, Energy, Water and Sanitation. The Chief Officer is responsible for policy planning and implementation co-ordination, while the Director of Water and Sanitation is responsible for all operational aspects of policy implementation;
- (v) Capacity of the Directorate of water and sanitation will be strengthened to ensure that policy is effectively implemented. Similarly, the capacity of NCWSC will be strengthened to enhance service delivery and customer service;
- (vi) It will be necessary to establish a robust Monitoring and Evaluation system to ensure effective implementation of policy. This system will be linked to a knowledge management capability to capture lessons learned and disseminate performance information. For this purpose, a Monitoring and Evaluation Unit will be established within the Directorate of water and sanitation.

H. DEPARTMENTAL MEETINGS*Department of Health Services*

The CPSB noted an escalation and discontent within the Health fraternity in the country and the Chairperson called for a meeting with senior management of the department and the union representatives of the over 700 employees in the Health Department. There were several issues of concern that included low morale, promotion of staff, nurses' allowances, delayed payment of salaries as well as absorption contract personnel working in sensitive areas like the morgue.

The meeting brainstormed on the issues and resolved that the following as a way forward;

That the departmental heads would meet, recommend and submit a list of all staff due for promotions as per the scheme of service, not later than 1st July 2015. This was done.

Employees engaged as casuals in the sensitive areas eg mortuary of the department be absorbed.

Advise department of human resource management and department the correct allowances as per the relevant circular.

Employ more personnel for the department within the limit for the budget this financial year.

The meeting was significant in that it helped avert a looming strike. Currently our health personnel are fully motivated are effective and efficient in service provision due to the steps taken by CPSB.

Department of Agriculture, Fisheries and Co-operatives

This is the second largest department with over 300 employees. In the meeting with the department of Agriculture, Fisheries and Cooperatives the major challenges were;

1. Promotion of staff.
2. Inadequate staff.
3. Casual workers.

The meeting resolved that the senior management meets and makes recommendation for promotions for the staff in the department not later than 1st Nov 2015. The recommendations should be forwarded to County Public Service Board for consideration.

Department of Trade and Industrialization

It was evident that at the time of the meeting that the department is sparsely staffed. It also did not have a substantively appointed chief officer.

I. DISCIPLINE

The Board has developed a manual to serve as a guideline to all disciplinary cases in the county in this manual it has been proposed that each department should have a disciplinary committee to deal with cases up to the level of job group J. All cases requiring dismissal are however determined by the County Public Service Board.

During this year there has been serious disciplinary cases reported and are being dealt with accordingly.

J. CASUALS

The County Governments Act, 2012 section 74 stipulates:

“The County Public Service Board shall regulate the engagement of persons on contract, volunteer and casual workers, staff of joint ventures and attachment of interns in its public bodies and offices.”

Employment policies in the former local authorities were fluid leading to a large casual labor force.

In a senior management committee chaired by the County Secretary, it was resolved that all casual workers be terminated by 30th November 2015. This information was conveyed by the Director Human Resource to Chief Officers with a note that only workers in critical areas will be considered for casual employment as the County Public Service Board on request by the respective Chief Officer.

PROMOTION OF VALUES AND PRINCIPLES PUBLIC SERVICE AND GOVERNANCE

A baseline survey was conducted intended to assist in collecting data relating to the level of knowledge and understanding of the national values and principles of governance in the Vihiga County Public Service.

The survey showed a generally low level of understanding on the values and principles as stipulated in Articles 10 and Article 232.

The Vihiga County public service was charged with the mandate to be enlighten the staff on Code of Conduct of Public Servants. It is also mandated to promote to both staff and the public on the National Values and Principles of Governance as enshrined in articles 10 and 232 of Constitution of Kenya 2010 and the County Government Act 2012.

A curriculum has also been developed by County Public Service Board that will guide in the promotion of Values and Principles of Governance and Public Service

The Board therefore organized a workshop in Kisumu that enlightened senior county government officers on code of conduct of public servants, national values and principles of governance and wealth declaration for the period 2013 -2015.

It intends to further promote the same to the other employees and eventually to the public in the year 2016.

The County Public Service Board has faced several challenges in executing its mandate which include;

Office Space

The premises that County Public Service Board is currently occupying has inadequate office space and is unsuitable for Board activities.

Budget Allocation

A budget has been prepared and authorized by the County Assembly. This budget is inadequate and also lacked participation of the County Public Service Board.

Its disbursement is irregular unpredictable and frustrating. The County Public Service Board is a body corporate and independent. It is recommended that its budget be disbursed as released by The Controller of Budget.

Pending Bills

In the last financial year most of the suppliers of County Public Service Board were not paid due to disbursement problems alluded to earlier.

Advertisement

Advertisement is very crucial for Board activities but at the moment County Public Service Board cannot advertise through the County Website.

In addition, it cannot also advertise in the local daily newspapers. Unpaid bills for the local dailies have accumulated to the extent that the management of the daily newspapers felt that they could not allow any more advertisements to be done unless the debts are settled.

Public Participation

Shortage of funds was the main obstacle to the promotion of public participation. The board only managed to perform a few of its activities in relation to public participation.

ACTIVITIES FOR 2016

The County Public Service Board looks forward to employing village administrators once the Bill goes through the County Assembly.

1. Interviews for the Department of Health Services are scheduled to take place as from 5th January, 2016 to 22nd January 2016
2. APHIA PLUS in conjunction with the County Public Service Board advertised for one-year contract jobs in the Health Services Department which are scheduled to take place in February 2016.
3. Finalization of the discipline plan, strategic plan and service charters is ongoing. The Board is to follow up completion of departmental the service charters.
4. County Public Service Board will continue with public awareness and sensitization on Code of Conduct of Public Servants, National Values and Principles of Governance as enshrined in articles 10 and 232 of Constitution of Kenya 2010 and the County Government Act 2012 to the sub county offices and headquarters. The County Public Service Board is planning to conduct capacity building for its staff and the public on the same.

RECOMMENDATIONS AND WAY FORWARD

1. The County Public Service Board should participate fully in the processes of making the 2015/2016 financial year budget.
2. As a matter of urgency the County Government should identify appropriate offices for the Board or alternatively put up a suitable office structure within the county.
3. It was observed that most of the professionals working in Vihiga County come from other counties. The Executive and the County Assembly should set aside a fund that aims to build capacity of its youths. This is particularly so in the medical field.
4. The secretary of the Board should be employed as soon as possible The Board's mandate on training is critical; hence the need to have adequate budgetary provisions.
