A BILL

FOR

Title.	AN ORDINANCE TO AMEND THE HIGH COURT OF LAGOS ORDINANCE, 1955.
Commence- ment.	[]
Enactment.	BE IT ENACTED by the legislature of the Federation of Nigeria as follows—
Short title and applica- tion.	1. This Ordinance may be cited as the High Court of Lagos (Amend- ment) Ordinance, 1960, and shall apply to the Federal Territory of Lagos.
Amendment of section 7 of Ordinance 3 25 of 1955.	2. (1) Section 7 of the High Court of Lagos Ordinance, 1955 (hereinafter called the principal Ordinance) is amended by the repeal of subsection (1) and the substitution of the following— “(1) There shall be paid to the Chief Justice as salary the sum of three thousand eight hundred pounds a year, and to each of the other Judges as salary the sum of three thousand three hundred pounds a year.”. (2) The revised salaries payable by virtue of the amendment effected by subsection (1) of this section shall accrue proportionately in respect of the years 1959 and 1960 with effect from the 1st day of September, 1959.
Repeal and replacement of section 49 of principal Ordinance.	3. Section 49 of the principal Ordinance is repealed and replaced by the following section :—

"Appeal by prosecutor. 49. A prosecutor aggrieved by a decision of the High Court in a criminal appeal from the Magistrates' Court may, with the leave of the Federal Supreme Court or the High Court, appeal against such decision to the Federal Supreme Court on a question of law but not on a question of fact or of sentence."

4. The following Part shall be inserted immediately after section 49 of the principal Ordinance:—

"PART IVA.—PROVISIONS PENDING APPEAL TO THE FEDERAL SUPREME COURT

Provisions
appeal.

49A. (1) Where an appeal to the Federal Supreme Court is entered, or leave to appeal is granted, against a conviction in respect of which the appellant has been sentenced to imprisonment, the High Court may, in its discretion, admit the appellant to bail pending the determination of the appeal; and any time during which the appellant is so admitted to bail, shall not count as part of the term of imprisonment to which he was sentenced.

(2) The operation of any order made on conviction by the High Court for the payment of compensation or of any of the expenses of the prosecution or of the imprisonment or of other punishment imposed on the person convicted or for the restoration of any property to any person, and the revesting in case of any such conviction, in the original owner or his personal representative of the property in stolen goods, shall (unless the judge before whom the conviction takes place directs to the contrary in any case in which, in his opinion, the title to the property is not in dispute) be suspended until the expiration of thirty days after the date of the conviction.

(3) Where an appeal to the Federal Supreme Court is entered, or leave to appeal is granted, in any civil case, the High Court may, in its discretion, order a stay of execution either unconditionally or upon the performance of such conditions as may be imposed in accordance with Rules of Court."

5. In subsection (1) of section 62 of the principal Ordinance, the following proviso shall be added—

"Provided that the presiding judge may cause the whole or any part of the proceedings to be recorded in shorthand by an official shorthand writer approved by the Chief Justice in accordance with such conditions as may be imposed by Rules of Court."

Insertion
of new Part IVA in principal Ordinance.

Amendment
of section 62
of principal Ordinance.

Objects and Reasons

The main purpose of this Bill is to supplement legislation relating to the Federal Supreme Court.

2. Section 49 of the principal Ordinance is no longer necessary in so far as an accused person is concerned since he is given rights of appeal under the Constitution Orders. It is, however, necessary to make express provision to retain the existing right of appeal on a point of law by a prosecutor since the Constitution Orders leave this to be dealt with by Ordinance.

3. Clause 4 of the Bill inserts a new Part IVA which is based on the existing section 49 (4) of the High Court of Lagos Ordinance, section 13 of Chapter 229 of the Laws and Rule 31 of the Federal Supreme Court Rules which rule empowers the High Court to grant a stay of execution pending appeal.

4. The Bill also contains provision amending the salaries of the Chief Justice and other Judges of the High Court of Lagos.

5. The opportunity has been taken to include a provision for the use of official shorthand writers.

PART IV—APPEALS IN CRIMINAL CASES FROM A COURT SITTING AS A COURT OF FIRST INSTANCE

Application of Part IV.

25. This Part shall apply to the exercise of the jurisdiction of the Supreme Court to hear appeals from decisions of the court below sitting at first instance.

Determination of appeal.

26. (1) The Supreme Court on any appeal against conviction under this Part shall allow the appeal if it thinks that the verdict should be set aside on the ground that it is unreasonable or cannot be supported having regard to the evidence, or that the judgment of the court before which the appellant was convicted should be set aside on the ground of a wrong decision on any question of law or that on any ground there was a miscarriage of justice and in any other case, subject to the provisions of subsection (3) of this section and section 27 dismiss the appeal :

Provided that the Court may, notwithstanding that it is of opinion that the point raised in the appeal might be decided in favour of the appellant, dismiss the appeal if it considers that no substantial miscarriage of justice has actually occurred.

(2) Subject to the special provisions of this Ordinance, the Supreme Court shall, if it allows an appeal against conviction, quash the conviction and direct a judgment and verdict of acquittal to be entered or order the appellant to be retried by a court of competent jurisdiction.

(3) On an appeal against sentence or, subject to the special provisions of this Ordinance, on an appeal against conviction, the Supreme Court shall if it thinks that a different sentence should have been passed, quash the sentence passed at the trial and pass such other sentence warranted in law (whether more or less severe) in substitution therefor as it thinks ought to have been passed, and if not of that opinion shall, in the case of an appeal against sentence, dismiss the appeal.

27. (1) If it appears to the Supreme Court that an appellant, though not properly convicted on some count or part of the information or charge, has been properly convicted on some other count or part of the information or charge, the court may either affirm the sentence passed on the appellant at the trial, or pass such sentence in substitution therefor as it thinks proper, and as may be warranted in law by the verdict on the count or part of the information or charge on which the Court considers that the appellant has been properly convicted.

court in special cases.

(2) Where an appellant has been convicted of an offence and the court which tried him or the jury (as the case may be) could on the information or charge have found him guilty of some other offence, and on the finding of the court or jury it appears to the Supreme Court that the court or jury must have been satisfied of facts which proved him guilty of that other offence, the Supreme Court may, instead of allowing or dismissing the appeal, substitute for the verdict found by such court or jury a verdict of guilty of that other offence, and pass such sentence in substitution for the sentence passed at the trial as may be warranted in law for that other offence, not being a sentence of greater severity.

(3) Where on the conviction of the appellant by a jury, the jury have found a special verdict, and the Supreme Court considers that a wrong conclusion has been arrived at by the court before which the appellant has been convicted on the effect of that verdict, the Supreme Court may, instead of allowing the appeal, order such conclusion to be recorded as appears to the Court to be in law required by the verdict, and pass such sentence in substitution for the sentence passed at the trial as may be warranted in law.

(4) (a) If on any appeal it appears to the Supreme Court that, although the appellant was guilty of the act or omission charged against him, he was insane at the time the act was done or omission made so as not to be responsible according to law for his actions, the Court may quash the sentence passed at the trial and order the appellant to be kept in custody as a criminal lunatic in such place and in such manner as the Court may direct until the pleasure of the appropriate authority be known, and the appropriate authority shall thereupon and from time to time give such order for the safe custody of the appellant during pleasure in such place and in such manner as the appropriate authority may see fit;

(b) In this subsection "appropriate authority" means the authority that could have made an order for the safe custody of the appellant if the court below had found that he was insane at the time the act was done or omission made.

Suspension of order for restoration
or payment
of compensation or expenses.

28. (1) Where a law in force in the Region from which an appeal is brought has suspended the operation of any order made on conviction by the court before which the appellant was convicted for the payment of compensation or of any of the expenses of the prosecution or of the imprisonment or other punishment imposed on the person convicted or for the restoration of any property to any person, and the reversion in case of any such conviction, in the original owner or his personal representative of the property in stolen goods, such order shall continue to be suspended until the determination of the appeal if notice of appeal, or notice of application for leave to appeal, is made within thirty days of the date of the conviction.

(2) In cases where the operation of an order is suspended until the determination of the appeal, the order shall not take effect if the conviction is quashed on appeal.

(3) The Supreme Court may by order annul or vary any order made by the court before which the appellant was convicted for the payment of compensation or of any of the expenses of the prosecution or of the imprisonment or other punishment imposed on the person convicted or for the restoration of any property to any person although the conviction is not quashed, and the order, if annulled, shall not take effect, and, if varied, shall take effect as so varied.

35. (1) The Supreme Court may, if it thinks fit, on the application of an appellant admit the appellant to bail pending the determination of his appeal.

(2) The time during which an appellant, pending the determination of his appeal, is admitted to bail shall not count as part of any term of imprisonment under his sentence and, any imprisonment under the sentence of an appellant, whether it is the sentence passed by the court of trial or the sentence passed by the High Court on appeal or the sentence of the Federal Supreme Court, shall, subject to any directions which may be given by the Court, be deemed to be resumed or to begin to run, as the case requires, from the day on which he is received into prison under the sentence.

Procedure
with respect to frivolous appeals on questions
of law.

36. If it appears to the Registrar that any notice of an appeal against a conviction purporting to be on a ground of appeal which involves a question of law alone, does not show any substantial ground of appeal, the Registrar may refer the appeal to any Judge of the Supreme Court and such Judge may, if he is of the same opinion, direct the Registrar to refer the appeal to the Supreme Court for summary determination, and, when the case is so referred, the Court may, if it considers that the appeal is frivolous or vexatious, and can be determined without adjourning the same for a full hearing, dismiss the appeal summarily, without calling on any persons to attend the hearing or to appear for the Crown thereon.

PART VII—MISCELLANEOUS AND REPEALS

Power to send back a case for amendment.

37. The Supreme Court, when a question as to the interpretation of the Constitution Order has been referred to that Court under section 145 of the Constitution Order, may cause the case to be sent back for amendment and judgment shall be delivered after it has been amended.

Repeal of
Cap. 229
and Ordinance
No. 27 of 1955.

38. (1) The Federal Supreme Court (Appeals) Ordinance and the Federal Supreme Court (General Provisions) Ordinance, 1955, are hereby repealed.

(2) Subject to the provisions of the Constitution Order any appeal or reference from a High Court that is pending or part heard, may be continued, completed and determined in accordance with the provisions of this Ordinance.

Objects and Reasons

The purpose of this Bill is to amend and consolidate the law relating to the Federal Supreme Court.

The Federal Supreme Court was established in 1954 and at that time the West African Court of Appeal Ordinance was adapted under the adaptation powers conferred by the Constitution Order in order to enable a new Federal Supreme Court to exercise its functions. In addition the old West African Court of Appeal Ordinance has been supplemented by the Federal Supreme Court (General Provisions) Ordinance, 1955, and the Federal Supreme Court (Appeals) (Amendment) Ordinance, 1955.

Since the Court was established the constitutional provisions relating to the Court have been amended from time to time in order to give effect to recommendations made at the Constitutional Conferences in 1957 and 1958. In particular the Nigeria (Constitution) (Amendment No. 3) Order in Council, 1959, sets out in detail the appellate jurisdiction of the Federal Supreme Court and it is therefore no longer necessary or desirable to include provisions relating to the appellate jurisdiction in the Federal Supreme Court Ordinance.

The Bill incorporates in one Ordinance the various laws and Adaptation Orders referred to above. In addition, it makes one major alteration of substance by increasing the period of appeal in a criminal case from the High Court sitting at first instance from 15 days to 30 days. The purpose of this is to remove the present anomaly under which a person appealing from the High Court sitting in its appellate jurisdiction is allowed 30 days to appeal, whereas a person appealing from that Court sitting at first instance is only allowed 15 days. It is considered that 30 days is a reasonable period to allow a person to decide whether he wishes to bring an appeal.

The Bill also amends the salaries of the Chief Justice of the Federation and the Federal Justices.
