Safety in Mines Research Advisory Committee (SIMRAC)
on behalf of the
Mine Health and Safety Council (the Council)

Invitation to submit project proposals

SIMRAC, a permanent committee of the Mine Health and Safety Council, was established in terms of the Mine Health and Safety Act (29/1996) to conduct research and surveys regarding, and for the promotion of, health and safety in the South African mining industry. Suitably qualified agencies and/or persons are invited to submit proposals in response to the project specifications in this Notice. In soliciting research projects for the 2008/2009 research programme, the Council has the following goals:

- to indicate the current research needs for research to commence in the 2008/2009 cycle;
- to invite research proposals in response to these defined priority areas of research; and
- to invite applications for postgraduate funding[□] for research which will promote health and safety within the South African mining industry.

A consultative process has resulted in the Council formulating a co-ordinated, long-term health and safety research programme and identifying priority areas for research to commence in the 2008/2009 cycle. Researchers and agencies are invited to submit research proposals for the research projects indicated. Proposed research must be well designed with a detailed methods section, be ethical and must have the potential to add to existing knowledge, practice or technology, involve the end users and implement/transfer outputs. The objectives of the Council in commissioning health and safety research, for both general and commodity-based projects, are to:

- Obtain and evaluate information to establish evidence-based risk assessment, standard setting and health and safety performance measurement;
- Develop techniques or guidelines to prevent, reduce, control or eliminate risks;

- Develop and pilot innovative ideas and procedures, where appropriate, to eliminate, reduce or control risk;
- Obtain information on the extent of work-related ill health;
- Identify, develop and improve sampling and measurement techniques to detect environmental hazards and assess personal exposure;
- Understand the aetiology and identify and evaluate best-practice screening, diagnostic and treatment interventions to reduce the impact of occupational disease;
- Evaluate the effectiveness of control interventions;
- Understand risk perception, attitudes and behaviour related to health and safety and promote best practices in hazard recognition and procedural conformance;
- Empower its statutory committees to formulate policy, expedite research aimed at improving the health and safety in the South African mining industry; and
- Collaborate with national and international initiatives and research to promote health and safety in the mining industry.

The criteria by which proposals will be evaluated include:

- Added value and impact – the Council supports research which can contribute significantly to the improvement in the health and safety of South African miners;
- Value for money – the Council supports cost-effective research;
- Innovation – the Council welcomes new approaches or new areas of focus for research leading to technologies or best practices to improve health and safety;
- Excellence – the Council demands excellence, particularly in the methods employed to conduct research, be it quantitative or qualitative, and hence will consider the track record of the proposer/s for expertise and delivery (quality, time and to budget);
- Use and development of research skills – the Council requires research teams to possess the skills relevant to the success of the project and also favours projects which assist in developing research capacity, particularly in previously disadvantaged groups;
- Collaboration - the Council places a high priority on collaboration between researchers and the “teams of excellence” approach. Thus, the means of soliciting research proposals is intended to stimulate collaboration between centres of excellence and individual experts in order to optimise the use of the Council funding and the research outcomes.
- Development of key indicators – the Council recognises the challenge in assessing performance and improvement in health, as opposed to safety, in the mining industry. There is a lack of suitable occupational health (OH) indicators and baseline data. Thus innovative and robust research to develop relevant OH indicators and baseline values will be favourably considered.

The Council's research and implementation programme consists of occupational health and safety, addresses occupational medicine and hygiene, rock engineering, engineering and machinery, behavioural issues and technology transfer processes.

Each proposal must:

- Address only the research topic advertised and this must be specified;
- Be in the format indicated and the template specified using Word format; and
- Be phased as indicated in the project scope.

Thrust 5Project title*Drum winders: Rope terminations at the drum, dead turns, and doubling-down procedures*Problem Statement / Research Question

No guidance on rope termination

GAP Analysis (Statistics/ Previous Research/Best Practice / Benchmarking

Very little previous work

Expected Impact on OHS / Value Added

Standardization and avoidance of accidents

Motivation

A recent failure of the rope termination at the drum of a drum winder while the rope was doubled down raised the following issues:

- o How strong should the rope termination be
- o What is type of termination should be used
- o What is the actual strength of a specific termination Why do we have dead turns
- o Why do we have to tension the dead turns
- o How does the hawse hole and the shape of the hawse hole affect the static strength of the rope and the deterioration during operation.

Primary outputs

Report with recommendations which include outputs outlined in the scope

Scope

The following project parts are proposed:

- o Gather information from the industry and analyze the information in terms of the above issues.
- o Prepare equipment for laboratory tests on various types of terminations.
- o Carry out laboratory tests.
- o Report with recommendations (also for SABS0294) Full scale laboratory tests on rope diameters greater than 40 mm may be problematic. The tests will have to be scaled down to smaller size ropes.

Discard Criteria

Problem Statement / Research Question

The discard criteria for triangular strand ropes may be too conservative. The scatter in the breaking strengths of laboratory prepared samples (with broken wires) were used to determine the statistical distribution with which the current discard criteria were established.

Expected Impact on OHS / Value Added

Apart from being a safety issue, the discard criteria (especially for different types of rope construction) determine the service life of a rope, and therefore the economics of using a specific rope

Project title

Discard criteria for mine winder ropes

Motivation

Between 1994 and 2000, various SIMRAC projects were carried out to verify and refine the discard criteria of SABSO293: The South African Bureau of Standards Code of Practice for the Condition Assessment of Steel Wire Ropes on Mine Winders (1996). Because the code was already issued for the first time in 1996, only one recommendation from one of the earlier research projects was included in the code.

Since the code was first published, a vast amount of experience was gained into the condition assessment of steel wire rope and the remaining strength of ropes with defects (especially with broken wires).

Some of the findings to date are:

The discard criteria for triangular strand ropes may be too conservative. The scatter in the breaking strengths of laboratory prepared samples (with broken wires) were used to determine the statistical distribution with which the current discard criteria were established. The method of preparation of these samples could have had an effect on the scatter of the results obtained. The discard criteria can only be adjusted by repeating some of the earlier work, and by re-investigating the statistical distribution used and the premise of when a rope has lost (not more than) 10% of its strength.

Comprehensive discard criteria for non-spin ropes (ribbon strand and fishback strand) (for broken wires) have been a problem, and this problem has now been expanded by the introduction of other types of winding ropes (e.g. Casar ropes).

Although it is realized that the detection of internal broken wires with magnetic instruments is not conclusive for the multi-layer rope constructions, it is now evident that the initial discard criteria for all of these ropes have to be written in terms of the number of broken wires that will be allowed. The actual discard criteria can then be adjusted to take into account the anticipated success with which broken wires can be determined.

The discard criteria for rope diameter reduction and the specification of the reduction need urgent reviewing (for both plastic deformation and abrasive wear). The code of practice also needs to distinguish between "normal" ropes and ropes with "compacted" strands.

Apart from being a safety issue, the discard criteria (especially for different types of rope construction) determine the service life of a rope, and therefore the economics of using a specific rope.

The code of practice for rope condition assessment is currently being reviewed (SANSI 0293) and the above issues need to be resolved before a meaningful revision of the code can be made, backed by properly motivated and documented recommendations.

Primary outputs

Broken wire discard criteria for triangular strand ropes Project tasks:

- o Plan and test laboratory prepared rope specimens.
- o Compare results with that of previous investigations.
- o Report.
