The Insurance Act

Pensions and Insurance Authority
(No. 38 of 2021)

Corporate Governance Guidelines

These Guidelines are issued pursuant to Section 60 of the Insurance Act No. 38 of 2021 and replace the guidelines issued on 31st August, 2020.

Good corporate governance and, in particular, effective oversight by directors and senior management, lies at the core of successful organisations. Undoubtedly, corporate failures that have been witnessed in the Zambian insurance sector in the last few years could ultimately be attributed to poor corporate governance practices. Good corporate governance facilitates effective, entrepreneurial and prudent management of entities, a prerequisite for long-term success.

In the context of these Guidelines, an important aspect of good governance is that there should be proper understanding of how to manage risks that an insurance entity faces and the establishment of a risk management framework appropriate to the size, nature and complexity of the business for the management and mitigation of these risks.

Boards of Directors and senior management of entities regulated by the Authority play key control functions in the Authority's risk based supervisory framework. Effective oversight by directors and senior management is an essential element in the safe and sound functioning of the entities and maintenance of an efficient and cost effective supervisory system. Further, effective oversight ensures protection of policyholder interests and allows the Authority to rely on the entity's internal processes in the discharge of its supervisory mandate; and, in situations where a regulated entity is facing challenges or requires significant corrective action, the role of the Board is heightened as the Authority would require significant Board involvement in finding solutions and overseeing the implementation of corrective action.

These guidelines provide guidance on standards and principals with respect to diligent, professional and transparent governance and risk management. They prescribe expected good practices of governance as well as roles, duties, functions and responsibilities of shareholders, directors and senior management.

The guidelines seek to ensure that persons exercising ownership, control, responsibility, management of or oversight of any regulated entity adhere to good corporate governance principles and practices. Through these Guidelines, it is hoped to foster accountability between shareholders, boards of directors and senior management while protecting the interests of policy holders and other stakeholders.

The effective application of these guidelines should culminate in the safe and sound management of the concerned entities, protection of policy holder interests and other beneficiaries of insurance policies and, ultimately, the development of the insurance industry.

Registrar & Chief Executive Officer

1. AUTHORIZATION

IN EXERCISE of the powers contained in section 60 of the Insurance Act No. 38 of 2021 ('the Act'), the Pensions and Insurance Authority hereby issues the Corporate Governance Guidelines, 2023. The Guidelines set out minimum corporate governance standards and practices to be applied by an insurer, reinsurer and insurance broker licensed under the Act. These Guidelines replace the Corporate Governance Guidelines, 2020.

2. APPLICATION

These Guidelines shall apply to Insurance, Reinsurance and Insurance Broking firms operating in Zambia and regulated by the Pensions and Insurance Authority (hereinafter collectively referred to as 'regulated entities').

3. EFFECTIVE DATE

These Guidelines shall come into effect on the date of publication. Regulated entities shall nonetheless be required to fully comply with the Guidelines within Twelve (12) months from the effective date.

4. GENERAL INTRODUCTION

The Authority has developed these Corporate Governance Guidelines to promote prudent management of regulated entities in Zambia. Good governance of regulated entities is critical to the stability and development of the Insurance industry.

Corporate governance refers to the manner in which a Board of Directors and Management oversee the regulated entity's business. It encompasses the means by which members of the board and senior management are held accountable for their actions. Corporate governance includes corporate discipline, transparency, independence, accountability, responsibility, fairness, probity and social responsibility. Timely and accurate disclosure of all material matters regarding the regulated entity is part of a good corporate governance framework. This includes timely and accurate disclosure of the financial condition, performance, ownership, governance arrangements and compliance with legal and regulatory requirements.

The Board is the focal point of the corporate governance system. It is ultimately accountable and responsible for the performance and conduct of the regulated entity. Delegating authority to board committees or management does not in any way discharge the Board of its duties and responsibilities.
